YOUNGEST OFFICE MANAGER? Now that Lynn Annette Keeder is secure in her job, she can claim the title of youngest "office manager" in Ohio, and perhaps the nation. The daughter of Francis F. and Elizabeth Jamison Keeder of Cannons Mills, Lynn has a firm grip on the affections of everyone in the office of Robert F. Beatty, East Liverpool architect. And no wonder, she'll only be 11 months old next Monday. Lynn has been "employed" since she was seven week old. Because of the technical language used in communications, Beatty decided it was easier to establish a nursery than train a new secretary. Mrs. Keeder was agreeable, so the architect's private office was taken over by Lynn. Lynn's father works at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jamison, 414 College St. The camera study was by Byron Eells, Review photographer.

Castro's Set To Negotiate U.S. Issues

Warns Against Any Action Harmful To Cuba Economy

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's government says it is ready to negotiate its differences with the United States but warns against any Washington action harmful to the Cuban economy.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa handed a note to U.S. Charge d'Affaires Daniel Braddock Monday announcing that Cuba would appoint a commission to open talks in Washington at a date convenient to both countries.

The note expressed "confidence this decision will be justly appreciated by the North American government inasmuch as it is directed to the examination of questions that have lately affected traditional relations between Cuba and the United States."

But the note indicated that negotiations would fall through if the U.S. government or Congress took steps Cuba might consider harmful to its economy. This was an obvious warning against any tampering with the sugar quota system under which the United States purchases half of Cuba's sugar crop at premium prices.

Braddock declined to comment on the contents of the note, which he relayed to Washington. A state Department spokesman in Washington said there would be no comment until the proposed has been studied.

Matters at issue between the U.S. and Cuban governments include:

U.S. demands for prompt and adequate payment for American property seized under Castro's agrarian reform program.

Cuban complaints that the United States is harboring "war criminal" members of dictator Fulgencio Batista's regime.

Severe restrictions on imports from the United States to Cuba.

Cuba also has been pressing for a new commercial agreement with the United States embracing the sugar quote system. Castro has complained frequently that having the quota subject to U.S. congressional action makes it "an instrument of political pressure" against Cuba.

CROWN PRINCESS Michiko gave birth to a boy Monday who one day may become the 126th Emperor of Japan. Officials said the baby weighed 5 pounds, 9 ounces. (UPI Telephoto).

Survey Asked For Hancock School Needs

Expansion Indicated As Board Hires OSU Team For Checkup

Eying expansion of the school system in the not too distant future, the Hancock County Board of Education has contracted with an Ohio State University group to make a systematic survey of building needs in the county.

Supt. Robert H. Hall said Dr. A. E. Wohlers of the Columbus school will serve as project coordinator for the survey that will get under way immediately.

The survey, costing $5,850, will determine the number of buildings needed and proper locations in the event the board wishes to proceed with an expansion program.

Supt. Hall made arrangements for the survey program at the recent convention in Atlantic City when he conferred with Dr. M. J. Conrad of OSU.

Pointing out the need for the survey program, Supt. Hall said "I don't feel we can guess any longer," referring to future plans for constructing new buildings to cope with growing enrollment.

"I believe we should have the study made and present the results to the people and let them decide what to do," the superintendent added.

He said that while the survey will be made in Hancock County for the initial time, other counties in the state have made use of the service, including Kanawha, where a $20 million dollar building program is in progress, Wheeling in Ohio County and also Marshall County.

The county presently has four high schools in Chester, Newell, New Cumberland and Weirton. Since 1952, the enrollment has increased by over 1,000, Supt. Hall pointed out.

The survey team from OSU is expected to file its first report with the board by late summer or early fall.

The board acted on four requests of high school principals and accepted two bids for school equipment.

Ike, Brazil Chief Join In Promise

Greater Prosperity, Harmony For All Is Aim For Hemisphere

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Chief executives of the two biggest nations in the Americas today pledged their joint determination to help develop the hemisphere materially and morally with the goal of "greater prosperity and harmony for all."

President Eisenhower and President Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil, in a "Declaration of Brasilia," expressed confidence in the success of a hemispheric crusade for economic development. At the same time they asserted their support of "the fight against racial discrimination and their belief in freedom of thought and religion.

"Economic development cannot be disassociated from the preservation of peace and democratic rights," they declared.

"The "Declaration of Brasilia" was drafted in advance in exchanges between the two Presidents and their foreign affairs departments. It was made public today just an hour before Eisenhower was due here on his 10-day South American tour.

He flew to Brazil from Puerto Rico, crossing the Amazon and heading for this still-building city which is due to become Brazil's capital two months from now. On Wednesday Eisenhower is to get his major reception in Brazil when he lands at Rio De Janeiro, the present capital.

The two presidents' declaration said the improvement of the Americas' living standards is keyed to preservation of world peace and democratic rights. Noting that the American nations already have achieved much, the two presidents said they are "firm in the conviction that action still more fruitful should be taken."

They did not elaborate, but quite possibly will before Eisenhower concludes his visit to Brazil Friday. He is to address the Brazilian congress in Rio, before continuing on to Argntina, Chile and Uruguay.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was designated to read the declaration in English and the Brazilian foreign minister, Horacio Lafer, to read it in Portuguese, at the site of a monument

$82 Million Slash Urged; Post Office Head Gives Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year money-cutting drive runs head on into a threat of curtailed postal service today in the House.

At issue is a proposed cut of 82 million dollars in new funds for the Post Office Department for the fiscal year starting July 1. It was recommended last week by the Appropriations Committee and is the biggest cut ever imposed by that group on requested postal funds, although the total allowed still would be $104,590,000 more than was appropriated for this year.

The committee action, taken by a lopsided vote, brought a complaint from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield that it Would be necessary to reduce

No Letup Due In Snow With More Slated

Light snow fell briefly this morning with more forecast by Wednesday as Old Man Winter kept the Tri-State district under siege for the second week in a row.

Flurries and squalls Monday and this morning added hardly half an inch to the accumulation but the additional light snow expected to start developing tonight may increase the total by an inch or two by tomorrow.

The Ohio weatherman said a low pressure area over Texas is moving eastward, bringing the light snow to the state tonight.

Rain and sleet may be mixed with the snow along the southern stretch of the Ohio River.

Temperatures were supposed to remain below freezing today — a high of 25 to 30 was forecast — but Dam 8 at Newell reported a reading of 33 at noon with the sun out, indicating it might go higher.

Temperatures dropped as low as 13 at Chesapeake during the night and Cincinnati reported 14. Temperatures elsewhere in the state were near 20. The overnight low here was 26. Tonight's low locally will be 20 to 25.

There will be little change in temperature tomorrow.

Some area highways quickly became hazardous during the thick snow flurry this morning between 8 and 9, but were clear later, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Facts Urged For Doctors On Poison Gas

Expert Says Gases Are More Terrible Than Nuclear Bomb

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A top authority on chemical warfare today urged that the nation's doctors be given the facts about some of the newer poison gases which he said were more terrible than nuclear bombs.

There are gases that will kill tens of thousands in a matter of minutes; gases that will make lunatics out of whole metropolitan populations; gases that will paralyze but not kill to liberate cities from military occupation.

This country has a whole array of these gases and the Soviet Union, which apparently had a six-year start on developing things of this kind, presumably has had all these and may have more, the expert said.

He said the Soviet Union has 50,000 tons of tabun, a nerve gas, enough to wipe out the populations of 1,000 cities the size of San Francisco.

The organism that causes Q fever, a disabling but seldom fatal disease, can be made so effective that one-thirtieth of an ounce of it will infect 500,000 people, he added.

This rundown was presented before the California Medical Assn. by Dr. Cecil M. Coggins of the California Disaster Office, Sacramento. Dr. Coggins formerly was associated with the Army Chemical Warfare Service.

The potentialities of chemical and biological warfare remain widely unknown, even among physicians who would be called upon to fight the deadly effects. Dr. Coggins said.

3 Firemen Die, 10 Injured As Building Falls

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The interior of a burning three-story brick building in downtown St. Louis collapsed with a roar Monday night, killing three firemen.

Ten other firemen were injured in the blaze, one seriously.

Two of the victims, trapped under debris, lived for some time after the upper floors had fallen in. Some 25 other firemen worked desperately to rescue them. But both were dead when extricated, the last one six hours after they had been trapped.

Dead were fire Capts. Arthur Fette, 62, and Clinton Lorbert, 36, and Pvt. William Grieser, 36.

Fette's body was recovered soon after he was killed. Lorbert and Grieser's moans would be heard as firemen worked to reach them. Lorbert's body was the last to be recovered.

The owner and a tenant of the building were booked for suspected arson, but police said several hours later it was possible neither had any knowledge of how the fire statred.

They are Angelo Kolocotronis, 51, owner of the building, and Edward Abschal, 44, operator of a salvage business who used the two upper floors.

BEAVER — Mrs. Mildred Harrison of Freedom was named forewoman of the Grand Jury which convened today to consider 47 cases.

Eisenhower Vetoes Water Pollution Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower vetoed a 900 million dollar water pollution control bill today on the ground that state and local governments rather than the federal goverment should foot most of the bill.

"Because water pollution is a uniquely local blight," Eisenhower said in a message to the House, "primary responsibility for solving the problem lies not with the federal government but rather must be assumed and exercised as it has been by state and local governments. This being so, the defects of H.R. 3610 (the vetoed bill) are apparent.

"By holding forth the promise of a large scale program of long-term federal support, it would tempt municipalities to delay essential water pollution abatement efforts while they waited for federal funds."

House leaders, sure the veto would come, already have laid plans to attempt to override it, perhaps Thursday. They aren't optimistic about the prospects, however.

But they do figure some Republicans may be hurt in the November election if they vote to support a veto of a bill that would offer financial help to cities over the country for building sewage disposal plants.

The bill would continue a water pollution act of 1956 and raise the total of federal funds that could be spent from 500 to 900 million dollars over a 10-year period.

Notice! Members of local 131. Wage policy committee conferees will be elected at meeting Wed., Feb. 24th. All members urged to be present. By order of president. —Ad.

9 Will Seek First Circuit Judge Posts

CHARLESTON (AP) — Five Democrats and four Republicans will seek nomination in the May 10 primary to two 1st Circuit judgeships — but the picture there is the exception rather than the rule.

Thirty circuit judges in all will be elected this year to eight year terms. In 16 instances, there are incumbents who so far have no opposition on either ticket. Six other incumbents have no primary opposition.

Democrat J. J. P. O'Brien and Republican J. H. Brennan, both of Wheeling, are up for renomination in the 1st Circuit embracing Ohio, Brooke and Hancock counties.

Democrats in the primary race also include W. F. Keefer, Wheeling; George G. Bailey, Triadelphia; William J. Moore, Weirton, and Ralph E. Pryor, Wellsburg. The Republican field, in addition to Brennan, includes William T. Fahey of Weirton, State Racing Commissioner James G. McClure of Triadelphia, and William C. Piper of Wheeling.

November's balloting will bring election of the first judges for two newly created circuits — the 28th, made up of Nicholas County, and the 29th including Mason and Putnam.

Three Summersville Democrats, Ralph Dunn, George Dana Herold and Claude H. (Pete) Vencill, are running in the 28th but no Republican filed there.

Unless there are late entries postmarked before last Friday midnight's deadline, Democrat James Lee Thompson of Hurricane and Republican R. F. Musgrave of the Point Pleasant will be unopposed in the 29th Circuit primary. There are a few other significant aspects to the generally sedate - appearing judicial picture.

Judge C. C. Chambers of Logan, seeking Democratic renomination in the 7th Circuit made up of Logan County, has a well regarded primary opponent in Prosecutor Claude A. Joyce. Paul E. Bottome of Logan is unopposed on the GOP ticket.

The veteran Judge Ernest A. See of Keyser did not file for Republican nomination in the 21st Circuit which includes Grant, Mineral and Tucker counties, but a contest has developed for the GOP spot on the November ballot.

D. E. Cuppett Jr. of Petersburg and Vernon E. Rankin of Keyser filed for the Republican primary. Henry Gassaway Shores of Keyser will be unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In the 8th Circuit made up of McDowell County, Democratic Judge Otis St. Clair decided not to seek renomination and Sidney Christie of Keystone, the Democratic county chairman, will run unopposed in the primary.

No Republican filed in McDowell. Judge St. Clair was appointed to serve the remainder of the term of Judge Thornton G. Berry Jr. of Welch after Berry won election to the State Supreme Court in 1958.

Symington Hurls Charge

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fresh battle over the state of the nation's defenses seemed likely today to delay the Senate's languishing debate over civil rights legislation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois had priority after the transaction of routine business for an answer to charges made last Friday by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo).

Symington, a likely but unannounced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, charged that the Eisenhower administration is misleading the American people on facts about Soviet missiles and military strength.

Although Republicans fought back at the time, Dirksen's reply seemed likely to put something of an official GOP stamp on the contention that Democrats are seeking political advantage in the argument over what they call the missile gap.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) took this line in accusing the opposition of misleading the people by playing what he called a numbers game.

Saltonstall, top Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, told the Sons of the American Revolution here Monday night that the only true appraisal of U. S. military strength rests on a qualitative, rather than a numerical, basis.

Rep. Willia E. Miller (R-NY), chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, took a similar rap at the Democrats.

"I'm getting a little sick," he said, "of the perennial political pessimists who are willing to sell America short to further their own political careers."

"The record shows," he added in a statement, "that the Symingtons, the Humphreys, the Johnsons and other Democrats—some already eyeing the White House two years ago—were the loudest forecasters of economic doom and the noisiest clamorers for vast federal spending programs and make-work projects. . . . They were wrong about the depression, and they're wrong about our military might."

With Democrats preparing to answer Dirksen, the Senate seemed in for another day with little mention of the civil rights proposals before it. In a 6½-hour session Monday, which included the reading of Washington's Farewell Address, there was no mention of the subject.

Wool Growers To Hold 78th Annual Sessions

BELMAR, N. J. (AP) — Druggist Joseph Axelrad has put plastic fish inside his store's showglobes, those large bottles filled with colored water that symbolize pharmacy in drugstores everywhere.

His globes have an unorthodox look, what with weighted plastic fish decorating the bottoms.

"I took the globes down for cleaning," says Axelrad. "Then I thought — why waste them? So I put in the fish."

ways remain covered and hazardous, officers said. No reports of accidents had been received this morning.

The forenoon snow ended quickly in the East Liverpool area as the sun beamed on the Ohio Valley but it accumulated at a faster pace in the rural areas and cindering crews had to go over some roads. Less than half an inch fell.

Gaylord Zellars, supervisor of the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia, said all 19 crews were out for about 3 hours. Two trucks remained on duty all night, one cindering in the East Liverpool area and the other in the Leetonia district.

Street department crews used a heavy grader this morning to rip up a thick accumulation of ice and packed snow in Summit Ln. at the rear of City Hall and Peach Alley, to the east of the municipal building. The big chunks of snow and ice, as much as 4 inches thick, were shoveled into trucks to be hauled away.

If It Ain't Dogs It's Ice And Snow

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown appealed today for householders to clean ice and snow from sidewalks and steps so carriers can deliver mail.

Brown said several foot carriers on city routes complained the hazardous condition makes mail delivery virtually impossible. He also reminded residents on rural routes they must keep the approaches to their mail boxes cleared.

Mental Giant

The porpoise, a sea-going mammal with a bigger brain than man's, is gaining recognition as a mental giant of the animal kingdom.

Some scientists believe this small member of the whale family may be the world's smartest creature, after man and the chimpanzee. Some speculate that he might outrank the intellectual chimp if an I.Q. test suitable for both animals could be devised.

The average weight of a human brain is about 1,300 grams or a little under three pounds. The familiar porpoise, more accurately known as the bottle - nosed dolphin (Tursiops truncatus), has a brain weighing perhaps 1,800 grams.

The porpoise also has a complex voice apparatus, which suggests that it might conceivably learn human speech. A captive porpose at Marineland, Florida, is reported to have imitated a brain researcher's voice so well that his wife burst out laughing. Then the porpoise imitated her laughter.

The relative intellectual standing of various animals cannot be accurately assessed at present, however, because the validity of all proposed tests is open to question. In fact, psychologists do not agree on the meaning of intelligence.

But most zoologists who have studied porpoises are deeply impressed both with the porpoise's ability to learn — almost incredibly fast on some tests — and the wide variety of its emotional responses and interests.

Drafty In Here

NASHVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Brown County Sheriff William Percifield learned two of his prisoners had escaped one night, when other inmates shouted complaints that an open door let cold air inside. The escapees had run off with the jailhouse padlock.

'Scentinel' Blocks Mail

WINGINA, Va. (AP) — Mail delivery at the post office here was held up by a defiant skunk who took a stand before the door. The driver of the mail truck from Lynchburg to Fort Union yielded to the perfume threat, passed up his stop and delivered the mail on the return trip.

Air Force Manual That Told About Dog Cost $5,572

WASHINGTON (AP)—That Air Force manual which told how to wash an officer's dog cost $5,572.71 to produce.

The Air Force also said a master sergeant writer and three civilians had worked on it—the sergeant for 180 days, a typist 30 days, and an illustrator and editor 10 days each.

The manual, among other information for officers' aides, had rules for mixing drinks, shining shoes, and making beds. It has been withdrawn. Nevertheless, the Air Force defended it in the report it submitted today to a House Appropriations subcommittee.

It said information from the manual had been "taken out of context" and misconstrued.

"The fact that certain tasks or procedures were included in the manual does not indicate that such duties were to be performed regularly by the airman aide as a routine part of his duty," it added. "However, such tasks might justiably be required of the aide upon occasion. . . .

"Further, such information would be useful to those airman aides who had responsibility for supervising domestic help (frequently indigenous, in oversea areas) in the officer's household."

Trouble Double Dose

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Oleg V. Suzdoleff, 27, found that trouble comes in double doses. He reported to Patrolman Kenneth Schiflet his car had been rammed on its left side. An hour later, Suzdoleff was before Patrolman Schiflet again. This time Suzdoleff's car had been battered from the rear.

The endless, tawny expanses of sawgrass in Florida's Everglades are a potential source of paper.

The folded blades of sawgrass bristle with tiny saw teeth as sharp as slivers of glass. It is one of the oldest plants known to man. But like papyrus, sawgrass is not actually a grass but a sedge. The stems contain pith.

Experimental use of sawgrass in making paper indicates that it will yield an excellent grade of newsprint. Florida economists hope that paper manufacturing can be developed as an Everglades industry when farmers no longer can till the area's rich but quickly depleted soil.

There is no other place in the world quite like the Everglades. In popular motion it is a region of steaming swamps, marshes and dark lagoons, of towering jungles dripping with moss and reptiles.

In reality the Everglades is a wide, long river of grass covering some 7,000 square miles. From Lake Okeechobee, in south central Florida, the shallow marshy river slopes gently 100 miles to the Gulf of Mexico and Florida Bay. The newcomer is silenced by the brooding harmony of sky, water, and grass. Tree islands dot the nearly flat landscape, but even they seem leveled under the enormous vault of the Florida sky.

Everyone Cooperates Except Weatherman

FAIRMONT, Minn. — Everyone cooperated except the weather for the inauguration of airline service to Fairmont.

The mayor, a band and a good turncut of townspeople were on hand for the inaugural landing by North Central Airlines. The band played and the mayor cut a ceremonial ribbon as an unseen plane droned past overhead.

The airport was covered with a soupy fog and the airliner had to pass it by.

Ten years ago there were only five swans at the refuge but the number has steadily increased.

In 1925, the trumpeter swan population in the U.S. was down to 73 and the federal government established refuges to protect them.

The Motives In The Defense Debate

Notable in his message Sunday night was the so-called "mild tone" with which it was delivered. Lest this be misinterpreted, it should be pointed out that the "mild tone" probably represented a lack of the flare of righteous indignation that characterized last week's press conference rather than an attempt to be conciliatory toward his hard-hitting critics.

Thus did the President imply his acceptance of the debate over defense policy as a proper one to which the nation's citizens should give serious thought and attention.

WITHIN THAT CONTEXT, what is the significance of the President's arguments in defense of his security approach?

He assured his constituents that they have nothing to fear—unless it is fear itself, to borrow a phrase from an Eisenhower predecessor on the other side of the political fence. He could back up this assurance only in the most general way. The facts and figures he might have cited to clinch his argumnt must necessarily remain guarded secrets.

So the decision that must be made by Americans is which argument—the President's or his critics'—is the more reliable and therefore deserving of their confidence. And this decision can best be made by considering the motives of the debaters.

Although he naturally hopes that his party, reflecting his administration's policies, will win November's elections, Mr. Eisenhower's greater concern now is his personal integrity in office and his place in the history books of the future.

NOTHING in his career as military and political leader points to a judgment that he would stoop so low as to mislead the people of his country deliberately to win an election for his party or to obtain for himself a fleeting moment of personal glory. He has reached the heights of this glory. The achievement yet to be gained is the judgment of history that his policies were wise and dedicated to America's good.

The first is comprised of those who seek political victories at the polls in November. Allowing for honest differences of opinion, it must be remembered that none of these men needs be restrained by the burden of over-all problems of economic and social security as well as military security.

It is the President who bears the responsibility for fitting together all the pieces of the giant jigsaw puzzle of the national welfare into a balanced picture. His opponents are free to roam over the landscape, daubing sensational colors here and there without attention to the whole.

The second category is comprised of those retired military leaders who represent only their own views and those active military leaders who represent primarily the views of their individual services.

The grand disagreements of militarists through the ages have provided historical fiction writers with some of their finest plots. Such disagreements also have provided retired military men with handsome incomes from the sale of autobiographies. There is, in short, no guarantee that all military men see alike just because they are military experts.

And jealousy among the individual services is the stumbling block that has subverted a 13-year effort to unify our defense structure and has made the Pentagon the legendary house of confusion it is.

IN SHORT, the President's defense critics have more narrow axes to grind than he has.

This is not a plea for complacency on the part of the American people about their defense status. The President's address was not a plea for complacency, either.

But because so much of the detailed information about that status must be kept locked away from public view, it is necessary for the American people to pin their reliance on the side that most deserves confidence.

President Eisenhower has far and away the most advantageous motives on which to base that confidence.

Mutual Respect In The Hemisphere

Although nearly every American president has been interested to some degree in our relations with Latin America, President Eisenhower is only the second chief executive in history to undertake an extensive good will tour of the southern half of the hemisphere during his term of office.

The first was Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose Latin American policy was aimed at replacing the Big Stick approach of early Monroe Doctrine days with the Good Neighbor idea.

Dwight Eisenhower has sought to extend and encourage the Good Neighbor as none of his predecessors ever did, but he has been faced with some notable complications President Roosevelt did not have to deal with. Biggest of these have been the pressing problems of reconstruction and communism in other parts of the world.

IN DEALING with these gigantic headaches, the United States necessarily has had to limit at times the attention it gave to its sister states in the New World. A touchy lot given to mercurial changes of mood toward those both within and without their borders, the Latin countries, for all their dependability as friends, have not been easy to satisfy.

If the United States is too solicitous toward them, it is open to charges of dictatorial interference in their domestic affairs.

If it leans over backward to avoid any hint of interference, it is open to charges of taking its neighbors for granted.

If, out of diplomatic necessity, it maintains relations with the dictatorships that are the rule rather than the exception in South and Central America, it is open to charges of fostering facism.

If it makes any move to protest dictatorial rule, it may find it has completed the full cycle—it is once again open to charges of interference in domestic affairs.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has sent many an emissary to Latin America, including his brother Milton and Vice President Nixon. Now he is going himself.

His message, he declared on the eve of his departure, is threefold: The United States is interested in the friendship of its hemispheric neighbors; it wants to work with them toward a better life for all; it wants to work with them for a more durable world peace.

In the process of taking this message to the Latins, he is apt to point out that "mutual respect" is a two-way street. Even though we are bigger and richer than they are, we have some problems of our own.

We are anxious to understand their problems, but we could do with a bit more understanding from them, too.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Telephone service in jet planes is now possible. A man can't "get away from it all" even in the skies. "You're wanted on the phone," the hostess said. "I think not. Only the wife knows we are on this plane and when we left we weren't speaking," we said.

However, we took the phone and a woman's voice asied: "Do you own your own home? We are offering a 10-day special price on aluminum storm windows and your name was given to us." This proved there is no escape, regardless of height or speed. Presently there was another call and it went like this:

"Is this you?"

"At this speed how would I know."

"Is Moe there?"

"Moe who?"

"Tell him to send a pound of liver, a dozen rolls and some canned catfood to Mrs. Puddicombe."

(It was obvious that people could get wrong numbers on airplanes as well as on the ground.)

We decided to call the boss and let him know why we weren't at work. "I've been looking for you. Step into my office," the boss said sternly. "From here!" we exclaimed in genuine alarm.

Then we hung up and decided to have no more truck with airplane phone calls. "If anybody calls say we are in conference," we told the hostess, who then said the plane was up pretty high and that somebody on the moon was trying to get us.

"Give the moon this message: Don't call us; we'll call you," we said firmly.

This is dog show season in many parts of the U.S. and we have found a dog, Esterhazy's Imperial Whatizzit III, who is leading a revolt to free pooches of excessive brushing, combing, washing and general fussing over to which they are subjected.

"I like love and care but what happens to us at canine shows shouldn't happen to a dog," he declared. "More time is spent on my ears alone than it takes to prepare the entire bodies of all the elephants in an Indian parade.

"Every show dog wishes he could yell at his master or mistress during these beautification treatments, 'You don't look so good yourself.' "

Esterhazy's Imperial Whatizzit III continued morosely: "Every dog-show pooch has one great dream. In it he is a powerful St. Bernard who has entered a human being in a show and is getting it ready for a ribbon. I have this dream and, boy, do I wash, comb, brush and fuss over the guy I am showing! Then I lead him around and around before a bunch of critical dogs acting as judges, so they can decide if he is a prize-winning sample of the human race or just a bum, due to the fact one ear is subnormal."

"How does the dream come out?" we asked.

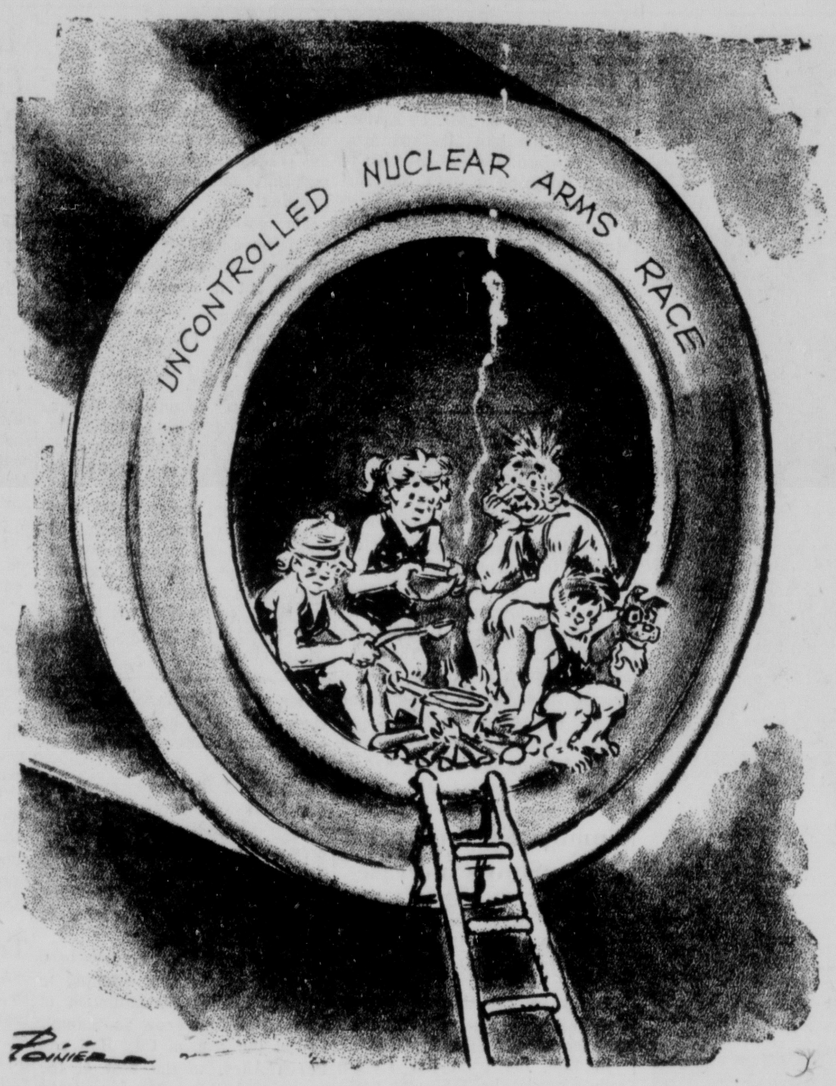

"The show is closed because of poor specimens, the dogs take over exclusively and exhibit other dogs," was the reply.

"Maybe I'll shoot quail and sit in a rocking chair after I leave the White House."—President Eisenhower.)

How wonderful a rocking chair
Without a critic anywhere:
To rock and rock the whole day through Without a problem old or new;
To think, to doodle and to paint

A rocker will be simply swell,

And no Mae Craig demanding "Why?"

Reuther Challenges Labor 'Summit'

By Victor Riesel

It is not unusual for Walter Reuther to be feuding with some giant. What is unusual is the size of the giant he decided to tangle with this time — none other than the world's biggest industry, the 60 billion dollar a year construction trade which normally has well over 125 billion dollars in backlog orders.

Victor Riesel

This will be a bitter, headline-making conflict. Yet few know the quiet men Reuther is challenging.

On any clear Friday — plane schedules permitting — you can see the summit of that group of industrialists and construction labor leaders arriving at a Washington hotel for their weekly session.

These are the kind of summit talks the White House is attempting to start in other mass industries.

The summit consists of 17 men —eight labor leaders, eight out of the executive suites of the big construction associations — and a 45-year-old professor from Harvard.

THE PROFESSOR is Dr. John Dunlop. He is the tip of the summit — the impartial chairman of the executive committee of the Construction Industry Joint Conference.

The conference was set up last April with its own headquarters and staff.

It is a labor-management effort to lower costs, introduce new machinery and materials, end all work stoppages and keep general peace in a massive business.

How massive? Since 1945 the construction industry has turned out 400 billion dollars worth of work and has done some 150 billion dollars worth of maintenance and repairs on the homes and factories and highways of the land.

It has put up more than 13 million homes, built more than 500,000 miles of roads and erected more than 100 billion dollars worth of business facilities. It employs some six million persons and requires the work of another 20 million to supply it.

Since April, the "summit" has met regularly "to provide a forum where the leaders can meet each week to talk of labor - management problems in the industry," as Prof. Dunlop put it to me the other day.

"We're concerned with making certain there will be a manpower supply in the '60s and that we get more efficient work practices out of conditions which aren't ideal," Dunlop added.

He disclosed that they hope to set up many smaller summits in heavy construction cities to meet and talk across a table as the national leaders do in Washington.

The first such regional labor-management conference for industrial peace is now functioning in St. Louis.

THE NATIONAL EFFORT is in a field which in the past has been hit by a billion dollar a year cost springing from all sorts of jurisdictional strikes. The billion dollar estimate comes from New York City councilman, Earl Brown who has studied construction as a hobby for 15 years.

At the summit each Friday are the presidents (or their representatives of national stature) of such unions as the Plumbers, the Carpenters, the Hod Carriers, the Lathers, the Bricklayers and the Electrical Workers.

At the table with them are the top men in the Associated General Contractors, the National Constructors Assn. and the National Assn. of Home Builders as well as specialty contractors such as the Mechanical Contractors Assn.

Reuther is feuding with the group because it is campaigning against the use of Auto Workers — or Steel Workers and Oil Workers for that matter — as maintenance and repair men.

There are other reasons. Not too long ago, the Plumbers wouldn't handle home food freezers produced in a Western plant which signed a contract with the Auto Workers Union.

The Steel Union covered a manufacturer of air conditioning units. The Sheet Metal craft unionists refused to install a million dollars worth of this equipment in a big Midwestern plant — unless it was first taken apart and reassembled.

Labor Stuck In Mud

By Norman Walker

WASHINGTON

Labor unions are in a slough. By their own appraisal they're stuck in the mud of their own unsolved problems.

The disturbing thing — if there is value in some measure of balance between labor and management in America—is that organized labor's leaders see their influence dwindling and don't quite know what to do about it.

Their membership is slipping. They still tolerate strength-sapping feuding between unions. They say employers are giving them an awful kicking around. They claim both political parties are so conservatively dominated that organized labor is practically a political orphan.

That is the agonizing analysis of the state of organized labor by union leaders themselves at a recent series of winter meetings. They are working on all the problems, but in a sort of half-hearted way that lacks the old crusading spirit.

Take organizing. When the rival AFL and CIO merged in late 1955 one goal was a giant revival of organizing activity.

Yet after four years of merger the AFL-CIO, with an estimated 13½ million members, reported the other day that union membership hasn't kept up with the growth of the labor force. About six workers out of 10 are still outside the union fold.

What's worse, from the union standpoint, is that the complexion of the work force is rapidly changing. New machinery is reducing the number of production of "blue collar" workers, while the ranks of technical or "white collar" workers are steadily growing.

Union organizing is still geared to the production worker and the craftsman. The unions realize they must use different techniques to attract the "white collar" wage earner. But they haven't yet found a successful formula.

New labor law restrictions, the unions say, have hobbled their traditional organizing methods. They are still running into antagonistic public opinion resulting from the labor racket scandals. And in these times of relative prosperity workers are not too receptive to organizing.

Despite all its troubles, the merged AFL-CIO is sticking together. Many of the rival leaders are still distrustful of each other. But they feel more secure together than divided.

Much of the merged organization's strength and resources are frittered away in internal scrapping. Fuzzy jurisdictional rules dividing the types of work the members of each union are supposed to perform are constantly being crossed with consequent retaliation.

The AFL-CIO has been working on various plans for peaceful settlement of these internal disputes, but none have jelled.

Employers, perhaps fearful the merged AFL-CIO would become more powerful than it has turned out to be so far, have tended to close ranks and stiffen their resistance to union demands.

Labor leaders point, as examples of this, to the recent lengthy steel and meatpacking industry strikes. Employers in the railroad and airline industries have built up big strike insurance or mutual aid funds.

Concern over a worsening labor-management relations climate led George Meany, AFL-CIO president, to ask President Eisenhower to sponsor a high-level conference of employers and union chiefs.

Eisenhower said he favored the idea, and such sessions are likely to take place in the coming weeks.

But observers are doubtful the meetings will succeed. One of the reasons is union labor's admitted relatively weak position on the current economic scene.

Forthright Words

Ike Uses Direct Language In Pre-Tour Talk

President Eisenhower in his address to the nation before departing for Latin America struck a blow for freedom in the world as against slavery, for truth in world debate as against misrepresentation and falsehood and for impartiality of judgment as against disparagement of America's military power to deter attack.

David Lawrence

The president left no doubt that he had atheistic Russia in mind as he said: "The bonds among our American republics are not merely geographic—rather they are shared principles and convictions." He added:

"Together we believe in God, in the dignity and rights of man, in peace with justice and in the right of every people to determine its own destiny."

This, however, was but one of several shafts directed at the Communists, who in recent months have been infiltrating Latin America and encouraging propaganda and other activities hostile to the United states—as, for instance, in Cuba.

MR. EISENHOWER has not voiced any criticism more severe since Khrushchev came to America than is contained in the following paragraphs of the Sunday night address from the White House:

"We condemn all efforts to undermine the democratic institutions of the Americas through coercion or subversion and we abhor the use of the lie and distortion in relations among nations.

"Very recently, in a faraway country that has never known freedom—one which today holds millions of humans in subjugation—impassioned language has been used to assert that the United States has held Latin America in a colonial relationship to ourselves.

"This is a blatant falsehood. In all history no nation has had a more honorable record in its dealings with other countries than has the United States."

The man who used that "impassioned language" about the United States was Nikita Khrushchev at a reception in Moscow recently for President Gronchi of Italy.

The "faraway country that has never known freedom" is today called the Soviet Union, which has retained the totalitarian methods of czarist Russia.

Mr. Eisenhower's remarks are not accompanied by any hint of future policy. But it is conceivable that, if the subversive activities against the independence of Latin-American countries like Cuba continue, the United States may issue a reaffirmation of the Monroe Doctrine and call on the organization of American states to assert itself with regard to Soviet attempts to obtain control of Latin-American countries.

The President reiterated that the United States adheres in Latin America "honorably and persistently to the policy of non-intervention."

The outspoken statements by Mr. Eisenhower raise anew some doubt as to whether, if the Soviet policies of stirring up anti-Americanism in Latin America should continue, he can possibly visit the Soviet Union next summer as planned.

OF EQUAL significance from a worldwide as well as a domestic point of view are the forthright words of the President about our defense posture. He said:

"We have created a great deterrent strength—so powerful as to command and to justify the respect of knowledgeable and unbiased observers here at home and abroad.

"Our many hundreds of Air Force bombers deployed the world over—each capable of unleashing a frightful destruction—constitute a force far superior to any other, in numbers, in quality and in strategic location of bases.

"We have, in addition, a powerful nuclear force in our aircraft carriers and in our host of widely deployed tactical aircraft.

"Adding constantly to these forces are advanced types of missiles steadily augmenting the armaments of all ground and other military units.

"As for longer range ballistic missiles, from a standing start only five years ago we have literally leaped forward in accomplishments no less than remarkable.

"The first Polaris missile submarine—an almost invulnerable weapon—will soon be at sea. New generations of long-range missiles are under urgent development.

"Collectively, this is a force not unduly dependent upon any one weapon or any one service, not subject to elimination by sudden attack, buttressed by an industrial system unmatched on earth and unhesitatingly supported by a vigorous people determined to remain free.

"Strategically, that force is far better situated than any force that could be brought to bear against us.

"We have forged a trustworthy shield of peace—an indestructible force of incalculable power, ample for today and constantly developing to meet the needs of tomorrow. Today, in the presence of continuous threat, all of us can stand resolute and unafraid—confident in America's might as an anchor of free world security.

THE TRAGEDY is that utterances here based on selfish politics, selfish ambition and a reckless disregard of the impressions made on the world by narrow criticisms of the defense policy of the United States have given the Soviets a chance to smear America not only in Europe but in Latin America.

That is why the President had to employ the strong language he did when he said America's great deterrent strength is so powerful as "to command and to justify the respect of knowledgeable and unbiased observers here at home and abroad."

Ready For Freddy

By Truman Twill

It would take two lifetimes and a bushel of tranquilizers to make me feel philosophical about a winter storm.

By "philosophical," I mean "unruffled," the meaning usually associated with the word. It is assumed that something about being a philosopher makes it possible to take things in stride because philosophers are wiser than people who make no claims to that distinction.

By that standard, where severe winter weather is concerned, I am not a philosopher. I do not feel philosophical when my fingers are thumping from the cold, my nose is running, my glasses are opaque with frost and snow and everything is going haywire. I become a ruffled grouse.

The thing about winter weather that unruffles me most is the way things go haywire.

Automobiles that run like watches all other times cannot be started.

Water freezes. Windows stick. Glass breaks. Roads drift shut.

Lips chap, legs and ankles turn raw and sore, sinuses scream in protest, eyes water and brittle bones are broken.

Hearts play out from exertion. Crazy accidents happen that would be unheard of under any other circumstances.

Over every situation looms the possibility that someone may perish as the result of weather's rampaging. It happens all the time. Kids die in marooned school buses. Down-and-outers freeze to death from exposure. It can happen to anyone.

The fellow next door skids off the road and dies from frost bite because no one saw the accident. All kinds of horrible things can happen in winter storm and usually do happen.

But for me, personally, the worst thing is loss of composure. I get as fluttery as a chicken before a tornado strikes.

Instead of accepting the holocaust, I rave and rant. I fight it with puny weapons—a silly snow plow, an ineffectual snow shovel, a foolish bucket of ashes, a stupid sack of salt.

Instead of sitting inside the house and observing it from a window, which is the way a philosopher would do it, I battle, knowing in advance that the outcome will be defeat yet being too angry to run away—philosophically.

I forget everything I've learned about workable formulas for dealing with adversity as soon as drifts pile up in a blizzard.

My perspective is blown away by the gale.

My composure is shattered.

I have a mental picture of myself—a caricature—standing in a snow drift up to here, eyeglasses crusted over, shaking a skinny fist at the weather and shouting curses at sadistic gods who make sport of men with gales, blizzards, cold snaps, sudden thaws, sleet storms, winter floods and other cruelties and inhumanities.

On second thought, it would take three lifetimes and two bushels of tranquilizers to make me feel philosophical about a winter storm. I should be laced up in a straitjacket and lugged into a padded cell whenever one of the — & — $ things started. I'm ready for Freddy when they stop.

The Motives In The Defense Debate

Notable in his message Sunday night was the so-called "mild tone" with which it was delivered. Lest this be misinterpreted, it should be pointed out that the "mild tone" probably represented a lack of the flare of righteous indignation that characterized last week's press conference rather than an attempt to be conciliatory toward his hard-hitting critics.

Thus did the President imply his acceptance of the debate over defense policy as a proper one to which the nation's citizens should give serious thought and attention.

WITHIN THAT CONTEXT, what is the significance of the President's arguments in defense of his security approach?

He assured his constituents that they have nothing to fear—unless it is fear itself, to borrow a phrase from an Eisenhower predecessor on the other side of the political fence. He could back up this assurance only in the most general way. The facts and figures he might have cited to clinch his argumnt must necessarily remain guarded secrets.

So the decision that must be made by Americans is which argument—the President's or his critics'—is the more reliable and therefore deserving of their confidence. And this decision can best be made by considering the motives of the debaters.

Although he naturally hopes that his party, reflecting his administration's policies, will win November's elections, Mr. Eisenhower's greater concern now is his personal integrity in office and his place in the history books of the future.

NOTHING in his career as military and political leader points to a judgment that he would stoop so low as to mislead the people of his country deliberately to win an election for his party or to obtain for himself a fleeting moment of personal glory. He has reached the heights of this glory. The achievement yet to be gained is the judgment of history that his policies were wise and dedicated to America's good.

The first is comprised of those who seek political victories at the polls in November. Allowing for honest differences of opinion, it must be remembered that none of these men needs be restrained by the burden of over-all problems of economic and social security as well as military security.

It is the President who bears the responsibility for fitting together all the pieces of the giant jigsaw puzzle of the national welfare into a balanced picture. His opponents are free to roam over the landscape, daubing sensational colors here and there without attention to the whole.

The second category is comprised of those retired military leaders who represent only their own views and those active military leaders who represent primarily the views of their individual services.

The grand disagreements of militarists through the ages have provided historical fiction writers with some of their finest plots. Such disagreements also have provided retired military men with handsome incomes from the sale of autobiographies. There is, in short, no guarantee that all military men see alike just because they are military experts.

And jealousy among the individual services is the stumbling block that has subverted a 13-year effort to unify our defense structure and has made the Pentagon the legendary house of confusion it is.

IN SHORT, the President's defense critics have more narrow axes to grind than he has.

This is not a plea for complacency on the part of the American people about their defense status. The President's address was not a plea for complacency, either.

But because so much of the detailed information about that status must be kept locked away from public view, it is necessary for the American people to pin their reliance on the side that most deserves confidence.

President Eisenhower has far and away the most advantageous motives on which to base that confidence.

Mutual Respect In The Hemisphere

Although nearly every American president has been interested to some degree in our relations with Latin America, President Eisenhower is only the second chief executive in history to undertake an extensive good will tour of the southern half of the hemisphere during his term of office.

THE NATIONAL EFFORT is in a field which in the past has been hit by a billion dollar a year cost springing from all sorts of jurisdictional strikes. The billion dollar estimate comes from New York City councilman, Earl Brown who has studied construction as a hobby for 15 years.

At the summit each Friday are the presidents (or their representatives of national stature) of such unions as the Plumbers, the Carpenters, the Hod Carriers, the Lathers, the Bricklayers and the Electrical Workers.

At the table with them are the top men in the Associated General Contractors, the National Constructors Assn. and the National Assn. of Home Builders as well as specialty contractors such as the Mechanical Contractors Assn.

Reuther is feuding with the group because it is campaigning against the use of Auto Workers — or Steel Workers and Oil Workers for that matter — as maintenance and repair men.

There are other reasons. Not too long ago, the Plumbers wouldn't handle home food freezers produced in a Western plant which signed a contract with the Auto Workers Union.

The Steel Union covered a manufacturer of air conditioning units. The Sheet Metal craft unionists refused to install a million dollars worth of this equipment in a big Midwestern plant — unless it was first taken apart and reassembled.

Labor Stuck In Mud

By Norman Walker

WASHINGTON

Labor unions are in a slough. By their own appraisal they're stuck in the mud of their own unsolved problems.

The disturbing thing — if there is value in some measure of balance between labor and management in America—is that organized labor's leaders see their influence dwindling and don't quite know what to do about it.

Their membership is slipping. They still tolerate strength-sapping feuding between unions. They say employers are giving them an awful kicking around. They claim both political parties are so conservatively dominated that organized labor is practically a political orphan.

That is the agonizing analysis of the state of organized labor by union leaders themselves at a recent series of winter meetings. They are working on all the problems, but in a sort of half-hearted way that lacks the old crusading spirit.

Take organizing. When the rival AFL and CIO merged in late 1955 one goal was a giant revival of organizing activity.

Yet after four years of merger the AFL-CIO, with an estimated 13½ million members, reported the other day that union membership hasn't kept up with the growth of the labor force. About six workers out of 10 are still outside the union fold.

What's worse, from the union standpoint, is that the complexion of the work force is rapidly changing. New machinery is reducing the number of production of "blue collar" workers, while the ranks of technical or "white collar" workers are steadily growing.

Union organizing is still geared to the production worker and the craftsman. The unions realize they must use different techniques to attract the "white collar" wage earner. But they haven't yet found a successful formula.

New labor law restrictions, the unions say, have hobbled their traditional organizing methods. They are still running into antagonistic public opinion resulting from the labor racket scandals. And in these times of relative prosperity workers are not too receptive to organizing.

Despite all its troubles, the merged AFL-CIO is sticking together. Many of the rival leaders are still distrustful of each other. But they feel more secure together than divided.

Much of the merged organization's strength and resources are frittered away in internal scrapping. Fuzzy jurisdictional rules dividing the types of work the members of each union are supposed to perform are constantly being crossed with consequent retaliation.

The AFL-CIO has been working on various plans for peaceful settlement of these internal disputes, but none have jelled.

Employers, perhaps fearful the merged AFL-CIO would become more powerful than it has turned out to be so far, have tended to close ranks and stiffen their resistance to union demands.

Labor leaders point, as examples of this, to the recent lengthy steel and meatpacking industry strikes. Employers in the railroad and airline industries have built up big strike insurance or mutual aid funds.

Concern over a worsening labor-management relations climate led George Meany, AFL-CIO president, to ask President Eisenhower to sponsor a high-level conference of employers and union chiefs.

Eisenhower said he favored the idea, and such sessions are likely to take place in the coming weeks.

But observers are doubtful the meetings will succeed. One of the reasons is union labor's admitted relatively weak position on the current economic scene.

Although Detroit is termed the motor capital of the United States, cars are actually manufactured in 41 of the 50 states.

Forthright Words

By David Lawrence

Ike Uses Direct Language In Pre-Tour Talk

President Eisenhower in his address to the nation before departing for Latin America struck a blow for freedom in the world as against slavery, for truth in world debate as against misrepresentation and falsehood and for impartiality of judgment as against disparagement of America's military power to deter attack.

David Lawrence

The president left no doubt that he had atheistic Russia in mind as he said: "The bonds among our American republics are not merely geographic—rather they are shared principles and convictions." He added:

"Together we believe in God, in the dignity and rights of man, in peace with justice and in the right of every people to determine its own destiny."

This, however, was but one of several shafts directed at the Communists, who in recent months have been infiltrating Latin America and encouraging propaganda and other activities hostile to the United states—as, for instance, in Cuba.

MR. EISENHOWER has not voiced any criticism more severe since Khrushchev came to America than is contained in the following paragraphs of the Sunday night address from the White House:

"We condemn all efforts to undermine the democratic institutions of the Americas through coercion or subversion and we abhor the use of the lie and distortion in relations among nations.

"Very recently, in a faraway country that has never known freedom—one which today holds millions of humans in subjugation—impassioned language has been used to assert that the United States has held Latin America in a colonial relationship to ourselves.

"This is a blatant falsehood. In all history no nation has had a more honorable record in its dealings with other countries than has the United States."

The man who used that "impassioned language" about the United States was Nikita Khrushchev at a reception in Moscow recently for President Gronchi of Italy.

The "faraway country that has never known freedom" is today called the Soviet Union, which has retained the totalitarian methods of czarist Russia.

Mr. Eisenhower's remarks are not accompanied by any hint of future policy. But it is conceivable that, if the subversive activities against the independence of Latin-American countries like Cuba continue, the United States may issue a reaffirmation of the Monroe Doctrine and call on the organization of American states to assert itself with regard to Soviet attempts to obtain control of Latin-American countries.

The President reiterated that the United States adheres in Latin America "honorably and persistently to the policy of non-intervention."

The outspoken statements by Mr. Eisenhower raise anew some doubt as to whether, if the Soviet policies of stirring up anti-Americanism in Latin America should continue, he can possibly visit the Soviet Union next summer as planned.

OF EQUAL significance from a worldwide as well as a domestic point of view are the forthright words of the President about our defense posture. He said:

"We have created a great deterrent strength—so powerful as to command and to justify the respect of knowledgeable and unbiased observers here at home and abroad.

"Our many hundreds of Air Force bombers deployed the world over—each capable of unleashing a frightful destruction—constitute a force far superior to any other, in numbers, in quality and in strategic location of bases.

"We have, in addition, a powerful nuclear force in our aircraft carriers and in our host of widely deployed tactical aircraft.

"Adding constantly to these forces are advanced types of missiles steadily augmenting the armaments of all ground and other military units.

"As for longer range ballistic missiles, from a standing start only five years ago we have literally leaped forward in accomplishments no less than remarkable.

"The first Polaris missile submarine—an almost invulnerable weapon—will soon be at sea. New generations of long-range missiles are under urgent development.

"Collectively, this is a force not unduly dependent upon any one weapon or any one service, not subject to elimination by sudden attack, buttressed by an industrial system unmatched on earth and unhesitatingly supported by a vigorous people determined to remain free.

"Strategically, that force is far better situated than any force that could be brought to bear against us.

"We have forged a trustworthy shield of peace—an indestructible force of incalculable power, ample for today and constantly developing to meet the needs of tomorrow. Today, in the presence of continuous threat, all of us can stand resolute and unafraid—confident in America's might as an anchor of free world security.

THE TRAGEDY is that utterances here based on selfish politics, selfish ambition and a reckless disregard of the impressions made on the world by narrow criticisms of the defense policy of the United States have given the Soviets a chance to smear America not only in Europe but in Latin America.

That is why the President had to employ the strong language he did when he said America's great deterrent strength is so powerful as "to command and to justify the respect of knowledgeable and unbiased observers here at home and abroad."

Ready For Freddy

By Truman Twill

It would take two lifetimes and a bushel of tranquilizers to make me feel philosophical about a winter storm.

By "philosophical," I mean "unruffled," the meaning usually associated with the word. It is assumed that something about being a philosopher makes it possible to take things in stride because philosophers are wiser than people who make no claims to that distinction.

By that standard, where severe winter weather is concerned, I am not a philosopher. I do not feel philosophical when my fingers are thumping from the cold, my nose is running, my glasses are opaque with frost and snow and everything is going haywire. I become a ruffled grouse.

The thing about winter weather that unruffles me most is the way things go haywire.

Automobiles that run like watches all other times cannot be started.

Water freezes. Windows stick. Glass breaks. Roads drift shut.

Lips chap, legs and ankles turn raw and sore, sinuses scream in protest, eyes water and brittle bones are broken.

Hearts play out from exertion. Crazy accidents happen that would be unheard of under any other circumstances.

Over every situation looms the possibility that someone may perish as the result of weather's rampaging. It happens all the time. Kids die in marooned school buses. Down-and-outers freeze to death from exposure. It can happen to anyone.

The fellow next door skids off the road and dies from frost bite because no one saw the accident. All kinds of horrible things can happen in winter storm and usually do happen.

But for me, personally, the worst thing is loss of composure. I get as fluttery as a chicken before a tornado strikes.

Instead of accepting the holocaust, I rave and rant. I fight it with puny weapons—a silly snow plow, an ineffectual snow shovel, a foolish bucket of ashes, a stupid sack of salt.

Instead of sitting inside the house and observing it from a window, which is the way a philosopher would do it, I battle, knowing in advance that the outcome will be defeat yet being too angry to run away—philosophically.

I forget everything I've learned about workable formulas for dealing with adversity as soon as drifts pile up in a blizzard.

My perspective is blown away by the gale.

My composure is shattered.

I have a mental picture of myself—a caricature—standing in a snow drift up to here, eyeglasses crusted over, shaking a skinny fist at the weather and shouting curses at sadistic gods who make sport of men with gales, blizzards, cold snaps, sudden thaws, sleet storms, winter floods and other cruelties and inhumanities.

It could be a photograph, except no one knows how to take a photograph in a snowstorm.

On second thought, it would take three lifetimes and two bushels of tranquilizers to make me feel philosophical about a winter storm. I should be laced up in a straitjacket and lugged into a padded cell whenever one of the — & — $ things started. I'm ready for Freddy when they stop.

Negro Student Speaks Up

Civil Rights Held Reason For Lunch Counter Issue

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Three weeks ago, a group of Negro college students entered a variety chain store in Greensboro, N.C., and sat down at the lunch counter.

They were not served. There was no disturbance.

Four days later, that store and another in a different chain temporarily closed their doors.

In the next week, this incident was re-enacted in a half-dozen other cities in North Carolina. Similar demonstrations were held in South Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Florida.

All followed much the same pattern.

Most of the demonstrators were Negro college students. In some instances, white students joined them. All were well dressed. They were quiet. While awaiting service at the lunch counters, they read college text books. Some read the Bible.

What's it all about? Is it an organized movement? What is the over-all objective?

"It's a manifestation of the unrest among this generation of students," says Joseph Charles Jones, Negro divinity student in Charlotte. "It comes from their desire to dramatize the injustice of the Negro's position.

"It is part of their feeling about the schools, the vote—civil rights in general."

Jones organized the movement in Charlotte. He prefers to be called its spokesman, not its leader.

He is 22, slim, neatly dressed, quiet in manner and speech. He hopes to be ordained a Presybterian minister when he finishes next year at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte.

He said he heard about the Greensboro incident when he was motoring to Charlotte from Washington.

"I discovered that many of the students here were anxious to go downtown to the stores," he said. "But there was no leadership or defined purpose. I felt that someone had to give it direction, to make the Charlotte movement meaningful and purposeful.

"On Tuesday, Feb. 9, after the word spread, about 150 students assembled outside the administration building. I talked to them about the importance of passive resistance."

The group went downtown in automobiles and busses. Some walked, Jones said.

"We filled all the 75 seats at the lunch counter in Woolworth's. We said nothing. The manager did not appear. The waitresses simply stood there. The police came in. They didn't speak to any one. They just looked."

Other members of the group went to another store (Kress). Later, they entered a number of other stores all within a radius of four square blocks in Charlotte.

Jones said the movement is not correlated among Negro students in different cities.

Officials of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said they had no prior knowledge of the movement.

North Carolina Atty. Gen. Malcolm Seawell said, however, "I know of one instance where it was planned four months ago." He gave no details.

Gordon Carey, representative of the Congress on Racial Equality (CORE) was in Norfolk, Va., last Friday night. He said he had been discussing the question of serving Negroes at the lunch counters with executives of Woolworth's and Kress stores in New York City. He said students at Durham, N.C., had requested his advice.

Carey said he did not know whether there will be demonstrations elsewhere in the South.

"I'll just say I hope there will be," he said.

In Charlotte, Mayor James S. Smith told this reporter: "Communication between Negroes and white is not open at present. I have tried to leave the doors open to both sides. I'm not acting as the arbiter. I've offered to furnish facilities where they could meet.

"I am working on an idea."

Earlier, the mayor wrote the students a letter, which said in part: "I would implore you and your group to take into consideration the fact that no further good can be accomplished by the continuation of the present demonstration. On behalf of all the people of our city, I appeal to your strong sense of patriotism and citizenship to discontinue this demonstration in order to return to normalcy."

The students complied but said, "Our decision to postpone the demonstrations temporarily does not represent any abandonment of our goals."

Jones also issued a statement which said:

"I think we have made our point for the present. We leave the matter to the merchants and managers of the stores involved and to their sense of fair play."

California U. Professor Heads Police Department In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Orlando W. Wilson, a mild-looking professor and newly named head of Chicago's scandal-riddled police department, says he will try to make the city's men-in-blue the best in the world.

But, cautioned the 59-year-old University of California dean after his selection Monday by Mayor Richard J. Daley, the job cannot be done overnight or by one man.

"Moves will have to proceed slowly and after due deliberations to avoid capricious or unwise actions," he told the small army of newsmen who jammed into the mayor's office.

The special five-man committee which proposed Wilson's name to Daley—Wilson had been chairman of the group until prevailed upon to take the post himself—also called for a sweeping revision of the department organization.

The new commissioner, a surprise choice, is dean of the School of Criminology of the University of California in Berkeley. An expert in police administration, he has served as consultant to police departments in six big cities.

His selection ended nearly a month of intensive searching for a successor to Timothy J. O'Connor, who resigned Jan. 23 in the wake of accusations there was collusion between policemen and burglars.

Wilson will be named acting police commissioner March 2 at the same time Daley proposes to submit to the City Council a ordinance revising the set-up of the police department. Upon the expected passage of the ordinance, Wilson would be named superintendent of police with a salary of $30,000 a year. This is $7,500 more than O'Connor got and $15,300 more than Wilson's salary at the university.

106 Midland Students To Take Scholarship Test On March 8

Some 106 juniors of Midland High School have registered to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test March 8 in the old gymnasium, Raymond Stowitzky, guidance director, said.

The three-hour test will measure educational development and college aptitude. It is the first step in the sixth annual competition for merit scholarships provided by some 100 corporations, professional societies and individuals.

Juniors who wish to qualify for Crucible Steel Co. scholarships, recently made available for 1961 high school graduates, will take this test, Stowitzky said.

Over $15 million has been awarded in the first four years of the merit scholarship program.

Principal William A. Walters said that Mrs. Dorothy Shovlin, commercial teacher, will attend a session of the Tri-State Study Council Wednesday at Pittsburgh University.

An assembly will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. in the new gymnasium when "The Koehlers," an acrobatic team, will perform.

Thursday afternoon, George Ross of Ohio View, an engineer, will speak to math and physics students during the sixth and seventh periods.

Thursday evening, Stowitzky, Walters and Paul Farnan will attend a "Program Chairman's Night" at Rochester, sponsored by the Bell Telephone Co.

Gerald LaValle, teacher, will attend the Tri-state Council workshop Friday at Chatham College in Pittsburgh and Mrs. Marjorie Lovejoy will attend the Council March 1.

An assembly will be held Monday featuring colored films of wild life by Howard Cleaves. Ben Kaye, art director, will help evaluate Mt. Lebanon High School March 1-3.

Ohio Editor, 62, Taken By Cancer

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Donald Clay Heck, assistant Sunday editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer and its former news editor, died of cancer Monday night at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Heck, 62, had spent four decades with the Enquirer, and worked at his desk up to last November.

After examination several months ago showed he had cancer of lungs and spine, Heck immediately called a funeral home here and made careful arrangements for his own services.

He said, "People who know me and others who know me only because I have been pointed out as someone whose time has about run out, tell me I have a lot of fortitude. Fortitude? No, it's just common sense. I am merely trying to face the inevitable in a way I feel it should be faced."

Chester Students Set Carnival For April 1

Plans for the annual Chester High School carnival April 1 were made at a meeting of the Student Council Monday afternoon.

"April Fool's Folly" will be the theme of the carnival in which school organizations will sponsor sideshows and other concessions, and for which a king and queen will be selected from candidates nominated by the four classes.

Proceeds will be used for a trophy case for the school corridor. Sayre Graham, Chester contractor, will submit plans for the case to be built this year.

Reid Calcott, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be March 7.

Halt Merger Talks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Eaton Mfg. Co. here and the American Metal Products Co., Detroit, have called off merger talks, the two firms announced in a joint statement Monday. The parties failed to reach agreement on major conditions. Plans for the 40-million-dollar deal had been announced Jan. 25.

Wellsville Church Awaits Candidate Wednesday Night

The congregation of the Wellsville Christian Church will hear a candidate for the pulpit vacancy at special services Wednesday night at 7:30.

The Rev. Robert E. Andrews, minister of the Mt. Hope (W. Va.) Christian Church, will be introduced by Richard S. Rowe, an elder. Rev. Andrews will preach from a text selected from Ezek. 37: 1-10. His sermon topic will be "Dry Bones."

J. H. Grafton and W. M. Crawford, elders, will preside at the Lord's Table in observance of Holy Communion. Kenneth G. Winters, an elder, will give the pastoral prayer.

Ralph A. Falconer, organist, will use "Vision" (Rheinberger) as the prelude; "Meditation" (Sturges) as the offertory and "Tacatta" (Boellmann) as the postlude. The Chancel Choir will sing "The Silent Sea" (Neidlinger).

Rev. Andrews will be accompanied by his wife.

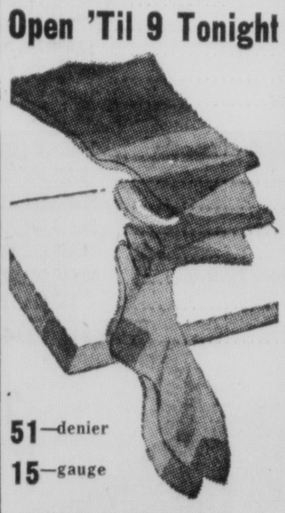

The Board of Elders, with Charles W. Stewart, chairman, met Feb. 10 with Rev. Andrews for a conference, after which he was invited to preach at the special service.

2. Financing assistance for car purchases and home mortgages.

SECURANCE is your first real opportunity to save while you simplify your security problems. Now one agent can provide you with insurance of all kinds plus financing facilities. In addition, you have the opportunity for democratic participation in the affairs of Nationwide. In fact, our policyholders helped develop this new SECURANCE concept through their representatives (on Nationwide Mutual's Board of Directors) and through their own participation in Nationwide's unique Advisory Committees of Policyholders.

SECURANCE comes in many sizes—a full program to cover every need, or just a single coverage. No matter how much SECURANCE you need, your Nationwide representative has the plan for you.

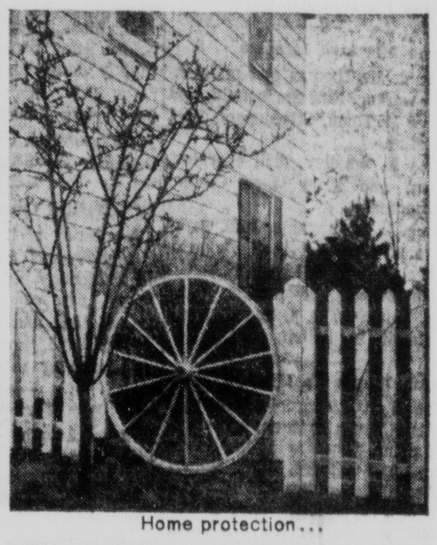

You'll like the convenience of having one agent take care of all or any of your needs. You'll like the low rates on just about any insurance you need. "Moves will have to proceed slowly and after due deliberations to avoid capricious or unwise actions," he told the small army of newsmen who jammed into the mayor's office.

The special five-man committee which proposed Wilson's name to Daley—Wilson had been chairman of the group until prevailed upon to take the post himself—also called for a sweeping revision of the department organization.

The new commissioner, a surprise choice, is dean of the School of Criminology of the University of California in Berkeley. An expert in police administration, he has served as consultant to police departments in six big cities.

His selection ended nearly a month of intensive searching for a successor to Timothy J. O'Connor, who resigned Jan. 23 in the wake of accusations there was collusion between policemen and burglars.

Wilson will be named acting police commissioner March 2 at the same time Daley proposes to submit to the City Council a ordinance revising the set-up of the police department. Upon the expected passage of the ordinance, Wilson would be named superintendent of police with a salary of $30,000 a year. This is $7,500 more than O'Connor got and $15,300 more than Wilson's salary at the university.

106 Midland Students To Take Scholarship Test On March 8

Some 106 juniors of Midland High School have registered to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test March 8 in the old gymnasium, Raymond Stowitzky, guidance director, said.

The three-hour test will measure educational development and college aptitude. It is the first step in the sixth annual competition for merit scholarships provided by some 100 corporations, professional societies and individuals.

Juniors who wish to qualify for Crucible Steel Co. scholarships, recently made available for 1961 high school graduates, will take this test, Stowitzky said.

Over $15 million has been awarded in the first four years of the merit scholarship program.

Principal William A. Walters said that Mrs. Dorothy Shovlin, commercial teacher, will attend a session of the Tri-State Study Council Wednesday at Pittsburgh University.

An assembly will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. in the new gymnasium when "The Koehlers," an acrobatic team, will perform.

Thursday afternoon, George Ross of Ohio View, an engineer, will speak to math and physics students during the sixth and seventh periods.

Thursday evening, Stowitzky, Walters and Paul Farnan will attend a "Program Chairman's Night" at Rochester, sponsored by the Bell Telephone Co.

An assembly will be held Monday featuring colored films of wild life by Howard Cleaves. Ben Kaye, art director, will help evaluate Mt. Lebanon High School March 1-3.

Ohio Editor, 62, Taken By Cancer

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Donald Clay Heck, assistant Sunday editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer and its former news editor, died of cancer Monday night at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Heck, 62, had spent four decades with the Enquirer, and worked at his desk up to last November.

After examination several months ago showed he had cancer of lungs and spine, Heck immediately called a funeral home here and made careful arrangements for his own services.

He said, "People who know me and others who know me only because I have been pointed out as someone whose time has about run out, tell me I have a lot of fortitude. Fortitude? No, it's just common sense. I am merely trying to face the inevitable in a way I feel it should be faced."

SECURANCE

Se·cur'ance (sē·kūr'ăns), n. A new program for true family security, originated by Nationwide Insurance. A method of providing through one representative all (or part) of one's insurance—life, health, home, car, property; may include car and home financing. Also refers to the unique system of democratic participation through which member-customers help determine direction and scope of company services.

TODAY, SECURANCE becomes a vital word in our language. It rhymes with insurance...it adds to insurance. SECURANCE is insurance-plus. SECURANCE is Nationwide's original new formula to help you plan the financial future of your family.

In 1926 when Nationwide was founded, a new insurance approach was born. Working together with its policyholders, Nationwide decided to provide, through one agent, all kinds of insurance—at low cost. Then, other services, allied to insurance were added. Today, most Nationwide representatives can provide:

1. Insurance for your car, home, health, life, family, business . . . even group insurance coverages—129 plans in all.
2. Financing assistance for car purchases and home mortgages.

SECURANCE is your first real opportunity to save while you simplify your security problems. Now one agent can provide you with insurance of all kinds plus financing facilities. In addition, you have the opportunity for democratic participation in the affairs of Nationwide. In fact, our policyholders helped develop this new SECURANCE concept through their representatives (on Nationwide Mutual's Board of Directors) and through their own participation in Nationwide's unique Advisory Committees of Policyholders.

SECURANCE comes in many sizes—a full program to cover every need, or just a single coverage. No matter how much SECURANCE you need, your Nationwide representative has the plan for you.

You'll like the convenience of having one agent take care of all or any of your needs. You'll like the low rates on just about any insurance you need. And you have the added satisfaction of knowing that you can have a voice in determining future services. For like no other big business in America, Nationwide is committed to the ideal of economic democracy.

Call your Nationwide agent today and ask him about SECURANCE—or mail coupon to nearest office listed below for your free Securance Catalog.

Family insurance...

A planned future for your youngsters...

Insurance for your car, plus car financing assistance

(In addition to the services described above, most Nationwide agents are authorized to sell shares of Mutual Income Foundation, a mutual fund. An M.I.F. prospectus can be obtained from your Nationwide agent—or from Heritage Securities, Inc., 246 No. High Street, Columbus 16, Ohio.)

Snow 'Domesticates' Robins

The snow of the past week has forced robins to leave their rural retreats and seek handouts from householders and a number of the birds were seen Monday. The birds have been observed all winter, sometimes in flocks in the countryside, where they feed on seeds and pods in trees and bushes but many have moved to town. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bishop, 909 Plutus Ave., Chester, reported sighting one yesterday in their yard. Some appear as big as small pigeons, with their feathers fluffed out against the cold. Bird lovers have appealed to householders to set out table scraps, bread crusts and other foods to tide the birds through the cold spell.

postal service and deprive many communities of needed facilities if the cut sticks.

Rep. J. Vaughan Gary (D-Va), chairman of the subcommittee which worked out the appropriation cut, described Summerfield's remarks as his "usual annual threat to the Congress."

"If the Congress is going to be intimidated by such tactics, we might as well pack up and go home," he said in a statement.

Indications were that the House would go along with its Appropriations Committee, as it has in the past.

There were further indications that all or most of the cut would be restored by the Senate, or be provided in a later bill, as it has in the past.

The Senate Appropriations Committee meanwhile in effect restored almost 18 million dollars of House cuts in another money bill, for the Commerce Department and related agencies. Restorations included 10 million for aviation weather services, $2,100,000 for ocean surveys and about 1¼ million for Commerce Department business servics connected with exports.

As approved by the Senate committee, the Commerce Department bill totaled $738,388,300, compared with $760,522,235 voted by the House and $799,615,000 asked by President Eisenhower.

But Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla), chairman of a subcommitte which handled the measure, said 40 million dollars cut from one section of the bill will have to be voted later. The cut involved a disagreement over whether forest and public land highways should be paid for out of general revenues or out of the special highway trust fund.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Former Cleveland Councilwoman Suzy Gallagher, 51, a candidate for nomination to the State Legislature, was booked at Central Police Station Monday night after her car was involved in a collision. Police said she appeared to have been drinking. She was held without charge.

Champion Of Peace?

BALTIMORE (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev is a champion of peace. But he is only so, added Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower Monday night, because he wants the applause of the Russian people, who in turn want peace. The Johns Hopkins University president made his remrks at an alumni association dinner before leaving for Puerto Rico to join his brother, President Eisenhower.

Ike

commemorating Eisenhower's visit to Brasilia.

"Your decision to carve a beautiful city out of the wilderness reminds us of our own decision many years ago to move the capital of our fledgling nation from Philadelphia to the District of Columbia," he said in a brief address prepared for a civic

The address was aimed mainly at Brasilia's construction workers and their families. To those workers and to all others in Brazil, Eisenhower brought special greetings.

"May your toil be fruitful in advancing Brazil's development and well-being," he said. "May your hands be firmly clasped with those of the workers of the United States and the entire free world in the building of a richer life in freedom for yourselves, your children and all generations to follow."

The declaration by Eisenhower and Kubitschek on economic advancement linked to the preservation of peace recalled the American president's emphasis on that point in his talk to the people of the United States Sunday night.

The two presidents expressed belief that the inter-American system, calling for an ever-improving way of life, presents one of the great challenges and opportunities of this age. They called for full implementation of principles of political and economic solidarity as set forth in the charter of the organization of American states and the mutual assistance treaty of Rio de Janeiro.

The modernistic capital-to-be was decked out colorfully for Eisenhower's first stop on the four-nation mission he hopes will cement western hemispheric unity and forge a mightier shield against potential enemies.

Officials estimated more than 100,000 persons—virtually the entire population of the new city—would turn out to greet Eisenhower. Most of them are workmen brought here for construction of the city. They were given the day off to greet the President.

Along the plaza from which this giant Latin American nation will be governed starting April 21, bulldozers, graders, derricks, trucks and jeeps were lined up for Eisenhower to review.

This is the wet season in Brasilia, 600 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro, and decoration of the city was held up until just a few hours before Eisenhower's arrival because of the threat of more rain.

Eisenhower's schedule in Brasilia included a civic reception in the center of the city, the unveiling of a monument commemorating his visit, dedication of the foundation stone for the new U.S. Embassy, and a dinner he will give tonight for Kubitschek.

The two presidents will have a chance to talk privately tonight at dinner in the new marble and glass presidential palace. Kubitschek is expected to urge American financial backing for his pet "Operation Pan - America," a sweeping program of economic development for Latin America.

Eisenhower left Washington early Monday and flew to Puerto Rico. He talked for 30 minutes at the San Juan airport with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, then flew on to Ramey Air Force Base, 90 miles from San Juan, where he spent the night.

WESTERN and SOUTHERN LIFE ASSETS—ONE BILLION DOLLARS

The Western and Southern Life Insurance Company announces with pride the attainment of ONE BILLION DOLLARS in Assets in 1959. This climaxes a year of unusual progress and growth for the Company.

This notable achievement is indeed a gratifying experience for Western and Southern personnel throughout the nation. Their dedication to the Company's sound principles of management, faithful and competent service, contributed immeasurably to this important achievement.

Added protection and security to six and one quarter million policyholders increased our insurance in force to $4.9 billion. The increase in assets for the year amounted to $95 million. New insurance written amounted to $703 million and the increase in insurance in force was $365 million.

Of major interest, too, was the increase in reserves of more than $89 million, set aside for future obligations to policyholders. At the close of 1959, total reserves amounted to $887,963,312.

The record expansion of Western and Southern operations throughout the nation over the past few years necessitated the construction of a seven-story addition to the already existing Home Office buildings. The Company's growth has been so accelerated since January, 1957, that assets and insurance in force have increased more than in the entire first 55 years of operation.

A further example of our dedication to render more efficient and intimate service to our policyholders can be found in the construction of a modern $4 million office building in Los Angeles, California, our Western Regional headquarters. New Regional offices at Houston, Texas and Jacksonville, Florida, supplement those at Philadelphia, Pa., St. Louis, Mo., and Asheville, N.C. More than 8,500 Western and Southern personnel serve the Company's policyholders in the Home Office, the six Regional Offices and the more than 300 sales and service offices in all sections of the country.

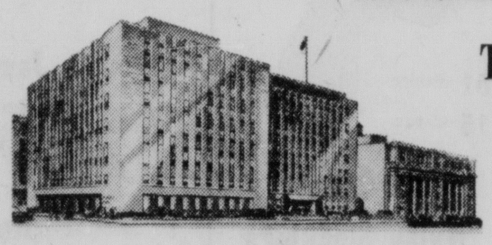

Faithful, efficient and dedicated service to the policyholders will continue to be our foremost objective.

WILLIAM C. SAFFORD

Snow 'Domesticates' Robins

The snow of the past week has forced robins to leave their rural retreats and seek handouts from householders and a number of the birds were seen Monday. The birds have been observed all winter, sometimes in flocks in the countryside, where they feed on seeds and pods in trees and bushes but many have moved to town. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bishop, 909 Plutus Ave., Chester, reported sighting one yesterday in their yard. Some appear as big as small pigeons, with their feathers fluffed out against the cold. Bird lovers have appealed to householders to set out table scraps, bread crusts and other foods to tide the birds through the cold spell.

postal service and deprive many communities of needed facilities if the cut sticks.

Rep. J. Vaughan Gary (D-Va), chairman of the subcommittee which worked out the appropriation cut, described Summerfield's remarks as his "usual annual threat to the Congress."

"If the Congress is going to be intimidated by such tactics, we might as well pack up and go home," he said in a statement.

Indications were that the House would go along with its Appropriations Committee, as it has in the past.

There were further indications that all or most of the cut would be restored by the Senate, or be provided in a later bill, as it has in the past.

The Senate Appropriations Committee meanwhile in effect restored almost 18 million dollars of House cuts in another money bill, for the Commerce Department and related agencies. Restorations included 10 million for aviation weather services, $2,100,000 for ocean surveys and about 1¼ million for Commerce Department business servics connected with exports.

As approved by the Senate committee, the Commerce Department bill totaled $738,388,300, compared with $760,522,235 voted by the House and $799,615,000 asked by President Eisenhower.

But Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla), chairman of a subcommitte which handled the measure, said 40 million dollars cut from one section of the bill will have to be voted later. The cut involved a disagreement over whether forest and public land highways should be paid for out of general revenues or out of the special highway trust fund.

Champion Of Peace?

BALTIMORE (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev is a champion of peace. But he is only so, added Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower Monday night, because he wants the applause of the Russian people, who in turn want peace. The Johns Hopkins University president made his remrks at an alumni association dinner before leaving for Puerto Rico to join his brother, President Eisenhower.

commemorating Eisenhower's visit to Brasilia.

"Your decision to carve a beautiful city out of the wilderness reminds us of our own decision many years ago to move the capital of our fledgling nation from Philadelphia to the District of Columbia," he said in a brief address prepared for a civic

The address was aimed mainly at Brasilia's construction workers and their families. To those workers and to all others in Brazil, Eisenhower brought special greetings.

"May your toil be fruitful in advancing Brazil's development and well-being," he said. "May your hands be firmly clasped with those of the workers of the United States and the entire free world in the building of a richer life in freedom for yourselves, your children and all generations to follow."

The declaration by Eisenhower and Kubitschek on economic advancement linked to the preservation of peace recalled the American president's emphasis on that point in his talk to the people of the United States Sunday night.

The two presidents expressed belief that the inter-American system, calling for an ever-improving way of life, presents one of the great challenges and opportunities of this age. They called for full implementation of principles of political and economic solidarity as set forth in the charter of the organization of American states and the mutual assistance treaty of Rio de Janeiro.

The modernistic capital-to-be was decked out colorfully for Eisenhower's first stop on the four-nation mission he hopes will cement western hemispheric unity and forge a mightier shield against potential enemies.

Officials estimated more than 100,000 persons—virtually the entire population of the new city—would turn out to greet Eisenhower. Most of them are workmen brought here for construction of the city. They were given the day off to greet the President.

Along the plaza from which this giant Latin American nation will be governed starting April 21, bulldozers, graders, derricks, trucks and jeeps were lined up for Eisenhower to review.

This is the wet season in Brasilia, 600 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro, and decoration of the city was held up until just a few hours before Eisenhower's arrival because of the threat of more rain.

Eisenhower's schedule in Brasilia included a civic reception in the center of the city, the unveiling of a monument commemorating his visit, dedication of the foundation stone for the new U.S. Embassy, and a dinner he will give tonight for Kubitschek.

The two presidents will have a chance to talk privately tonight at dinner in the new marble and glass presidential palace. Kubitschek is expected to urge American financial backing for his pet "Operation Pan - America," a sweeping program of economic development for Latin America.

Eisenhower left Washington early Monday and flew to Puerto Rico. He talked for 30 minutes at the San Juan airport with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, then flew on to Ramey Air Force Base, 90 miles from San Juan, where he spent the night.

WESTERN and SOUTHERN LIFE ASSETS—ONE BILLION DOLLARS

The Western and Southern Life Insurance Company announces with pride the attainment of ONE BILLION DOLLARS in Assets in 1959. This climaxes a year of unusual progress and growth for the Company.

This notable achievement is indeed a gratifying experience for Western and Southern personnel throughout the nation. Their dedication to the Company's sound principles of management, faithful and competent service, contributed immeasurably to this important achievement.

Added protection and security to six and one quarter million policyholders increased our insurance in force to $4.9 billion. The increase in assets for the year amounted to $95 million. New insurance written amounted to $703 million and the increase in insurance in force was $365 million.

Of major interest, too, was the increase in reserves of more than $89 million, set aside for future obligations to policyholders. At the close of 1959, total reserves amounted to $887,963,312.

The record expansion of Western and Southern operations throughout the nation over the past few years necessitated the construction of a seven-story addition to the already existing Home Office buildings. The Company's growth has been so accelerated since January, 1957, that assets and insurance in force have increased more than in the entire first 55 years of operation.

A further example of our dedication to render more efficient and intimate service to our policyholders can be found in the construction of a modern $4 million office building in Los Angeles, California, our Western Regional headquarters. New Regional offices at Houston, Texas and Jacksonville, Florida, supplement those at Philadelphia, Pa., St. Louis, Mo., and Asheville, N.C. More than 8,500 Western and Southern personnel serve the Company's policyholders in the Home Office, the six Regional Offices and the more than 300 sales and service offices in all sections of the country.

Faithful, efficient and dedicated service to the policyholders will continue to be our foremost objective.

WILLIAM C. SAFFORD
President

Drunk Driver Given Release, Warned He Cannot Own Auto

A St. Clair Township man who has been in and out of jail — mostly in — since a New Year's Day traffic accident was released today when Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff reviewed his sentence, but on condition that he cannot own or drive an auto for at least two years.

Although he has served 38 days in jail, John M. McCullough of the Y. & O. Rd. still owes the city $368 in fines and costs accumulated on 3 charges — driving while under the influence of alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident and operating an auto without a driver's license.

Judge Chertoff also warned McCullough that if he violates any city ordinance or state law in the future he will be brought into court again and ordered to pay all the balance remaining on the fines or "lay it out" in jail. As part of the condition of his release. McCullough was ordered to pay off the fines at the rate of $10 a month when he finds employment again.

McCullough told the court he has disposed of the auto he owned at the time of his arrest in connection with the Jan. 1 accident. As part of his sentence, McCullough was given a 20-day jail term, so only 18 of the 38 days he has spent in jail count toward credit for his unpaid fines, the judge commented.

McCullough was released from jail last Friday on a $1,000 bond pending his appearance Thursday in Juvenile Court at Lisbon on a non-support charge.

McCullough was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in jail on Jan. 15 on the drunk driving charge. His operator's permit also was suspended for two years. He was fined $50 each on the other 2 charges and given a concurrent 20-day jail term.

Judge Chertoff commented that McCullough will be in violation of the court's order if he as much as acquires title to a car in the next 24 months.

Served In 3 Wars And Peace

Gen. Cooper, Ex-Leader Of Ohio Division, Claimed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Maj. Gen. Kenneth Cooper of Columbus, until a year ago commander of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division, died today, two weeks after he was admitted to Grant Hospital with a kidney infection. He was 62.

Until his resignation. Gen. Cooper had been the only man to serve with the 37th continuously since the beginning of World War I. He enlisted in the Ohio National Guard in May 1917 and served in France as an artilleryman.

Gen. Cooper became division artillery commander Nov. 11, 1946, and assumed command of the division in August 1956 when Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber retired.

Gen. Cooper, who served the division for nearly 42 years in three wars and on peace-time National Guard status, was born in Hornell, N. Y.

He attended Chamberlain Military Institute and Scott High School, Toledo.

Following his service in France during World War I, he was released from service on April 11, 1919.

He re-enlisted in the Ohio National Guard, to which he was to devote his life, May 6, 1921, and was appointed first sergeant.

He was commissioned second lieutenant, field artillery, Jan. 21, 1922. In the two years he won promotions to first lieutenant and captain, and was elevated to major in 1932. He won his lieutenant colonelcy in 1937 and three years later was promoted to full colonel.

After taking command of the 136th Field Artillery of the ONG in 1940, Gen. Cooper took the first detachment of American troops—an advance unit of the 37th Division—to New Zealand in 1942. He saw service in Fiji and Guadalcanal and took part in the New Georgia campaign, together with the battles of Bouganville, Manila, Bagiuio and Caygayan, where he was wounded in 1945.

He returned to the United States in December 1945, and was released from active federal service on April 23, 1946.

When the Ohio National Guard was reorganized following World War II, Gen. Cooper was appointed commanding general of the 37th Division Artillery.

He was called into active service with the division again during the Korean conflict.

He was appointed assistant adjutant general of Ohio in January 1947 and became commanding general of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division Aug. 16, 1956.

Gen. Cooper held the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with two oak leaf clusters, Bronze Star with oak leaf cluster and Purple Heart.

He is survived by his wife, Iva, and a son, Hamilton, a captain with the Army, stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Home Bought For Rectory

The Wellsville Immaculate Conception Catholic Church has purchased a home on Riverside Ave. to be used as a rectory and will raze the present rectory this summer to make a playground for children of the Parochial School.

The church purchased the former Fickes property, which adjoins the school. It will be remodeled this winter. No definite date has been set for tearing down the old structure but it will be after school is dismissed for summer.

Fr. John Lyons, pastor, said he will move into the new home shortly before demolition starts.

The present church was built in 1927 but the rectory is over 70 years old. The parish was started years before the present church was constructed.

The school now has a small play area. The new area also will be used as a parking lot on Sundays.

The women's organizations of the church will hold a public card party Tuesday, March 1, at 8 p. m. at the school to raise funds to help furnish the new rectory.

Officers of the combined organizations met last week to plan the affair. Named as co-chairmen were Mrs. Nina Oliveri, grand regent of the Catholic Daughters of America; Mrs. Madge Miller, president of the Confraternity of Christian Mothers, and Mrs. Marge Abrams, president of the Altar and Rosary Society.

Drunk Driver Given Release, Warned He Cannot Own Auto

A St. Clair Township man who has been in and out of jail — mostly in — since a New Year's Day traffic accident was released today when Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff reviewed his sentence, but on condition that he cannot own or drive an auto for at least two years.

Although he has served 38 days in jail, John M. McCullough of the Y. & O. Rd. still owes the city $368 in fines and costs accumulated on 3 charges — driving while under the influence of alcohol, leaving the scene of an accident and operating an auto without a driver's license.

Judge Chertoff also warned McCullough that if he violates any city ordinance or state law in the future he will be brought into court again and ordered to pay all the balance remaining on the fines or "lay it out" in jail. As part of the condition of his release. McCullough was ordered to pay off the fines at the rate of $10 a month when he finds employment again.

McCullough told the court he has disposed of the auto he owned at the time of his arrest in connection with the Jan. 1 accident. As part of his sentence, McCullough was given a 20-day jail term, so only 18 of the 38 days he has spent in jail count toward credit for his unpaid fines, the judge commented.

McCullough was released from jail last Friday on a $1,000 bond pending his appearance Thursday in Juvenile Court at Lisbon on a non-support charge.

McCullough was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in jail on Jan. 15 on the drunk driving charge. His operator's permit also was suspended for two years. He was fined $50 each on the other 2 charges and given a concurrent 20-day jail term.

Judge Chertoff commented that McCullough will be in violation of the court's order if he as much as acquires title to a car in the next 24 months.

Gen. Cooper, Ex-Leader Of Ohio Division, Claimed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Maj. Gen. Kenneth Cooper of Columbus, until a year ago commander of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division, died today, two weeks after he was admitted to Grant Hospital with a kidney infection. He was 62.

Until his resignation. Gen. Cooper had been the only man to serve with the 37th continuously since the beginning of World War I. He enlisted in the Ohio National Guard in May 1917 and served in France as an artilleryman.

Gen. Cooper became division artillery commander Nov. 11, 1946, and assumed command of the division in August 1956 when Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber retired.

Gen. Cooper, who served the division for nearly 42 years in three wars and on peace-time National Guard status, was born in Hornell, N. Y.

He attended Chamberlain Military Institute and Scott High School, Toledo.

Following his service in France during World War I, he was released from service on April 11, 1919.

He re-enlisted in the Ohio National Guard, to which he was to devote his life, May 6, 1921, and was appointed first sergeant.

He was commissioned second lieutenant, field artillery, Jan. 21, 1922. In the two years he won promotions to first lieutenant and captain, and was elevated to major in 1932. He won his lieutenant colonelcy in 1937 and three years later was promoted to full colonel.

After taking command of the 136th Field Artillery of the ONG in 1940, Gen. Cooper took the first detachment of American troops—an advance unit of the 37th Division—to New Zealand in 1942. He saw service in Fiji and Guadalcanal and took part in the New Georgia campaign, together with the battles of Bouganville, Manila, Bagiuio and Caygayan, where he was wounded in 1945.

He returned to the United States in December 1945, and was released from active federal service on April 23, 1946.

When the Ohio National Guard was reorganized following World War II, Gen. Cooper was appointed commanding general of the 37th Division Artillery.

He was called into active service with the division again during the Korean conflict.

He was appointed assistant adjutant general of Ohio in January 1947 and became commanding general of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division Aug. 16, 1956.

Gen. Cooper held the Silver Star, Legion of Merit with two oak leaf clusters, Bronze Star with oak leaf cluster and Purple Heart.

Home Bought For Rectory

The Wellsville Immaculate Conception Catholic Church has purchased a home on Riverside Ave. to be used as a rectory and will raze the present rectory this summer to make a playground for children of the Parochial School.

The church purchased the former Fickes property, which adjoins the school. It will be remodeled this winter. No definite date has been set for tearing down the old structure but it will be after school is dismissed for summer.

Fr. John Lyons, pastor, said he will move into the new home shortly before demolition starts.

The present church was built in 1927 but the rectory is over 70 years old. The parish was started years before the present church was constructed.

The school now has a small play area. The new area also will be used as a parking lot on Sundays.

The women's organizations of the church will hold a public card party Tuesday, March 1, at 8 p. m. at the school to raise funds to help furnish the new rectory.

Officers of the combined organizations met last week to plan the affair. Named as co-chairmen were Mrs. Nina Oliveri, grand regent of the Catholic Daughters of America; Mrs. Madge Miller, president of the Confraternity of Christian Mothers, and Mrs. Marge Abrams, president of the Altar and Rosary Society.

2 More Fined On Old Tickets

Two East Liverpool district drivers accused of ignoring a total of 9 parking tickets issued in 1959 were fined a total of $44, including costs, when they appeared today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on warrants issued by "Meter Maids."

The defendants were Elbert Conger and Edward W. Welch, both of R. D. 2. In each case, the judge decreed a fine of $16, plus $6 costs. Both pleaded guilty. Their appearances brought to 6 the number of drivers haled before the judge in the last week as part of a cleanup of parking tickets issued last year.

Welch was accused specifically of parking overtime June 19 on Dresden Ave. A notation on the warrant said 3 other tickets were issued to him last year. Welch first appeared on Friday, winning a continuance until today.

Conger was charged specifically with parking May 28 in Diamond Alley between Washington and Market Sts., a prohibited zone. A notation on the warrant said he was issued 4 other tickets in 1959. Because he lives outside the city, the warrant was served on Conger by a deputy sheriff. Taken into custody yesterday, he posted a $25 bond to regain his freedom pending his appearance this morning.

Both the warrants were signed Feb. 15 by "Meter Maid" Joan Star. Four drivers were taken before the judge last week in similar cases.

Book Thrown At City Man In Drunk Driving

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff figuratively "threw the book" today at a 56-year-old East Liverpool man who appeared for the second time in less than 6 months on a drunken driving charge, imposing a 90-day jail sentence, a fine of $500 and costs and a 3-year suspension of his driver's license.

The stiff penalty, little short of the maximum under the law, was accompanied by a scathing lecture to Pirl Shields, 236 W. 3rd St., driver of an auto that was involved in a mishap Saturday night on W. 8th St. near Chestnut St.

Police said Shields' auto rammed the rear of a halted car driven by Edward C. Kimberland, 34, of 315 Persimmon Ln., causing injury to Steven Millward, 61, of W. 8th St., who was alighting from the halted car.

It was the heaviest penalty meted out in many years in the city's court on such a charge. Shields pleaded guilty when the judge read the charge to him. Then the judge noted that the court records show Shields was in court on a similar charge on Sept. 19, 1959, when he was fined $300 and costs, sentenced to 10 days in jail and given a 6-month suspension of his operator's permit.

Questioned by Judge Chertoff, Shields said he actually spent 3 days in jail, as the remaining time was suspended. The judge said the record shows Shields has paid only $150 of the $300 fine.

"Apparently you didn't learn a lesson form the first case," Judge Chertoff said. "You are the type that should not be driving a car. A driver needs to be doubly careful on snow and ice, but you can't if you are under the influence of alcohol."

Earlier, Shields had told the judge his driver's license was restored to him when he obtained financial responsibility insurance.

"The fact that you got financial responsibility insurance in no way assures that you will get your license back," the judge said. "That is up to the court."

"You are not going to drive a car in East Liverpool if I can help it," the judge continued. You have no right to drive a car. I think the people of East Liverpool deserve to be protected from you."

The judge referred to "this poor man lying injured in the hospital" as a result of the accident. Then he declared that Shields' license probably will be suspended for an additional year — a total of 4 years — by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles at Columbus under the 12-point demerit system.

"I will ask the state to make the suspension consecutive, so that your permit will be suspended for at least 4 years in all," the judge told Shields. "There is no sense of my making a notation of this violation on your driver's license, because as far as the court is concerned you have no more license."

Concluding the judge told Shields that he will remain in jail until he pays the $500 fine and serves the 90 days. After leaving the bench the judge commented that: "This is one case I won't review" for reduction of sentence.

On Mishap At Wellington

Report On Train Wreck May Be Given PUC Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The report and recommendations of its Railroad Department on the Jan. 10 Wellington train wreck may reach the Utilities Commission today.

Four persons were killed and 45 hurt when the Cleveland - bound New York Central passenger train went off the tracks at Wellington Jan. 10.

The railroad conducted a hearing in Cleveland earlier this month with representatives of the Utilities Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission on hand.

The Utilities Commission's Railroad Department waited until a transcript came in last week, and Department Chief Charles A. Hamman, inspectors Eli Magovich and Victor Vasvari, and Assistant Atty. Gen. Herbert T. Maher have been working on their report since.

However, the Utilities Commission has indicated that there is little it can recommend or do if the accident occurred because of human error. If some practice or mechanical aspect of operation is at fault, it can order appropriate changes.

"We may have the report ready late this afternoon, and at least in the next day or so," Hamman said today. He did not indicate what it would contain.

A preliminary report by Vasvari said the train's brakes appear to have been working. Authorities earlier had quoted the engineer as saying he thought the brakes may not have been working properly.

Lorain County Prosecutor Paul J. Mikus said Friday that county officials had agreed to ask the Utilities Commission to conduct a public hearing on causes of the wreck. But commission officials said today that no request has been received yet.

DiSalle Raps C. Of C. Claim About Deficit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle disputes a claim by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce that Ohio faces operating deficits by 1961 in spite of tax increases voted by the last General Assembly.

The chamber estimated that a deficit would show up by mid-1961 and might hit 36 million dollars by mid-1963.

"I don't agree that there will be any deficit," DiSalle told newsmen Monday. "If our economy keeps growing, then our revenues ought to be at least equal to our demands."

At the end of the state's bookkeeping year next June 30, the state will have an uncommitted balance of about 9 million dollars, DiSalle estimated, although his finance director has figured it to be less.

But the governor warned that financial predictions depend on the nation's economy. "Who can tell how many people are going to be employed in 1960 or 1961?" he asked. "We feel that we will be able to meet our budget requirement. Beyond that it will depend on employment.

"If the economy moves according to President Eisenhower's predictions there will not be a deficit in Ohio."

Iceland Gunboat Fires Blanks At British Craft

LONDON (AP)—The Federation of British Trawlers said an Icelandic gunboat had fired on the 666-ton British fishing boat James Barrie and its crew of 20 two days ago. A British Admiralty spokesman said the shots did no damage "and so presumably were blanks."

The federation said the James Barrie was fishing five miles off the coast of Iceland. Iceland has ordered foreign boats not to fish within 12 miles of its shores. The British insist on the old three-mile limit.

Trustees Push Traffic Count

A traffic count on roads in St. Clair Township will be completed in a few weeks, it was reported at a meeting of the trustees Monday night.

The trustees have been conducting the count for about two months in line with a request from state officials. Trustees plan to meet Wednesday at Lisbon with a state official concerning the township's road mileage which is the basis for road fund allotments.

The trustees authorized use of a grader for clearing away rock along Grimms Bridge Rd. where a group of residents is planning to remove a rocky area.

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. was granted permission to lay a main on John St. in Glenmoor.

Finding Slated For Thursday In Suspension

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver conducted a formal hearing today for Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes, who was suspended without pay Saturday by Chief Americo J. Radeschi, but reserved his finding in the case until Thursday.

The director said the officer admitted the truth of the charges filed against him by the chief—that his operator's permit has been suspended by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles under the Ohio Financial Responsibility Law because his auto was involved in a collision Aug. 3 and the damage to the other car has not been settled.

Because Hayes' license was suspended, Radeschi ordered him suspended for "incompetence" because he "cannot carry out the ordinary duties of a patrolman on the Department of Police."

Hayes' auto was operated by an unidentified friend when it was involved in the collision over 6 months ago on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd., the chief said in his charges against the patrolman.

Procedure in such cases is set down in state law. The law requires the director to hold a hearing on the chief's charges. If the suspension is upheld, the officer has the right of appeal to the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

The hearing this morning was attended by Chief Radeschi and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper. Copenhaver said Hayes admitted the truth of the charges and said he does not have a valid operator's permit. But the officer indicated he hopes to obtain his license again as soon as possible by obtaining financial responsibility insurance and making arrangements to take care of the damage to the other car, the director said.

The director said he made arrangements to talk with Hayes again tomorrow, when the time will be set for handing down the decision Thursday. No definite length of suspension has been set yet, as that is the director's prerogative under the law.

7 Killed, 4 Injured In Rooming House Fire

Four persons were injured. One, Charles Battles, 58, was in a serious condition with burns over 45 to 55 per cent of his body. Battles was a ball of fire when he leaped from a second story window to icy ground below.

There were 35 persons in the building including the landlady, Clara M. Gillen, 63. Her son, James, said three-quarters of the residents were pensioners.

Hopes To Prove United Support

Nixon's Name Scheduled For Pennsylvania Primary

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is countering Democratic attempts to tag him as a GOP Old Guardsman with efforts to show he has united Republican party support.

As a part of this strategy, Nixon's name is scheduled to go into the April 26 Pennsylvania primary today as an unopposed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) announced Monday that petitions to put Nixon's name on the ballot are being filed with Nixon's knowledge.

An entry in Pennsylvania would bring to eight the primaries in which the vice president's name will be before the voters either directly or represented by a delegate slate.

Nixon thus is matching the number of primaries in which Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) has entered or, in one case, is represented by proxy. In Ohio, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is running pledged to the Massachusetts senator.

In each instance Nixon has made it clear he has permitted the entry of his name primarily because local Republicans urged the action. They want to heal breaches in the party that go back to the 1952 fight between President Eisenhower and the late Sen. Robert A. Taft for the presidential nomination.

If Nixon brings out a substantial number of Republican voters in all eight states—even though he is unopposed—the vice president's followers will be prepared to claim that the GOP is united behind him.

Of the eight states, Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana cast their votes at the 1952 convention for Taft. New Hampshire and Oregon went for Eisenhower and Pennsylvania gave him a 53-15 margin over Taft. Nixon's home state of California was a holdout for Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Oklahoma Republicans, with no primary, already have pledged their delegation to Nixon in state convention. In 1952 the Oklahomans gave seven votes to Taft, four to Eisenhower and five to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Van Rie's Wife May Be Defense Witness In Trial

BOSTON (AP) — Nella van Rie may be a defense witness at the trial of her radio operator husband, Willem, charged with the shipboard killing of pretty Lynn Kauffman, 23-year-old divorcee.

Defense Counsel W. Langdon Powers said there is a "slight possibility" he may call the defendant's dark-haired wife.

Van Rie's trial, in recess since Saturday noon, enters its 10th day today.

A 33-year-old Indonesian named Gadong, cabin boy aboard the Dutch freighter Utrecht, from which Miss Kauffman disappeared last Sept. 18, was expected to be one of the last prosecution witnesses.

Gadong, flown halfway around the world from Surabaya, may testify about what he did and observed while the Utrecht steamed out of Boston for New York five months ago, resuming a voyage from the Orient.

Lynn Kauffman's battered, half-nude body was found next day, washed ashore on a harbor island.

A medical examiner testified she was beaten and kicked before she died of drowning, and other injuries could have been caused if she had been thrust through a porthole of her cabin.

The prosecution contends Van Rie engaged in a romance with the slight Miss Kauffman during the 44-day voyage from Singapore, that a quarrel ended this affair and that the radio operator beat her in her cabin.

ALL WE HEAR IS "NYET!"

"Nyet" is the Russian word for "no." To 76 million oppressed people behind the Iron Curtain in captive nations, "nyet" is a hated word. "Nyet" to freedom of speech, "nyet" to freedom of the press, "nyet" to the right to know the truth, "nyet" to all the freedoms we Americans take for granted.

But freedom cannot be taken for granted. It has always been won by toil, money and blood and must be zealously guarded.

Heavy Snow Warnings Go Up In East

By The Associated Press

Fresh snowstorms raked wide sections of the plains states today, with blizzard conditions in some areas.

Gusty northerly winds, heavy snow and near zero temperatures were reported along the southern Nebraska border southward through most of west and central Kansas and the Oklahoma-Texas Panhandle. The storm center moved northeastward out of the south central plains.

Winds up to 30 to 40 m.p.h. whipped the heavy snow covering, making driving conditions hazardous. Falls measured three to six inches during the night in many parts of the storm belt.

Warnings of heavy snow were posted for most of east and central Kansas, southeast Nebraska, Iowa and northwest Missouri, with accumulations of four to eight inches by tonight.

The cold weather also invaded areas along the eastern slopes of the Rockies from east central Wyoming southward into northeast New Mexico, which also was hit by snow.

Chilly weather returned to northern Florida, with temperatures dropping into the 30s. Heavy rains fell in the southern half of Florida. Clear, crisp weather prevailed in other parts of the Southeast and in most sections along the East Coast from northern Florida to New England.

However, the Utilities Commission has indicated that there is little it can recommend or do if the accident occurred because of human error. If some practice or mechanical aspect of operation is at fault, it can order appropriate changes.

"We may have the report ready late this afternoon, and at least in the next day or so," Hamman said today. He did not indicate what it would contain.

A preliminary report by Vasvari said the train's brakes appear to have been working. Authorities earlier had quoted the engineer as saying he thought the brakes may not have been working properly.

Lorain County Prosecutor Paul J. Mikus said Friday that county officials had agreed to ask the Utilities Commission to conduct a public hearing on causes of the wreck. But commission officials said today that no request has been received yet.

DiSalle Raps C. Of C. Claim About Deficit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle disputes a claim by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce that Ohio faces operating deficits by 1961 in spite of tax increases voted by the last General Assembly.

The chamber estimated that a deficit would show up by mid-1961 and might hit 36 million dollars by mid-1963.

"I don't agree that there will be any deficit," DiSalle told newsmen Monday. "If our economy keeps growing, then our revenues ought to be at least equal to our demands."

At the end of the state's bookkeeping year next June 30, the state will have an uncommitted balance of about 9 million dollars, DiSalle estimated, although his finance director has figured it to be less.

But the governor warned that financial predictions depend on the nation's economy. "Who can tell how many people are going to be employed in 1960 or 1961?" he asked. "We feel that we will be able to meet our budget requirement. Beyond that it will depend on employment.

"If the economy moves according to President Eisenhower's predictions there will not be a deficit in Ohio."

Iceland Gunboat Fires Blanks At British Craft

LONDON (AP)—The Federation of British Trawlers said an Icelandic gunboat had fired on the 666-ton British fishing boat James Barrie and its crew of 20 two days ago. A British Admiralty spokesman said the shots did no damage "and so presumably were blanks."

The federation said the James Barrie was fishing five miles off the coast of Iceland. Iceland has ordered foreign boats not to fish within 12 miles of its shores. The British insist on the old three-mile limit.

The new hallucination-producing drugs take effect whether swallowed, breathed or injected. They can be prepared in aerosols which will penetrate closed rooms in the same way as fuel gas.

They caused visions, depression, senseless elation or apathy lasting 12 to 24 hours, Dr. Coggins reported. A man breathing this stuff could not fire a gun, fly a plane or perform any useful task acceptably.

Trustees Push Traffic Count

A traffic count on roads in St. Clair Township will be completed in a few weeks, it was reported at a meeting of the trustees Monday night.

The trustees have been conducting the count for about two months in line with a request from state officials. Trustees plan to meet Wednesday at Lisbon with a state official concerning the township's road mileage which is the basis for road fund allotments.

The trustees authorized use of a grader for clearing away rock along Grimms Bridge Rd. where a group of residents is planning to remove a rocky area.

The Ohio Valley Gas Co. was granted permission to lay a main on John St. in Glenmoor.

Finding Slated For Thursday In Suspension

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver conducted a formal hearing today for Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes, who was suspended without pay Saturday by Chief Americo J. Radeschi, but reserved his finding in the case until Thursday.

The director said the officer admitted the truth of the charges filed against him by the chief—that his operator's permit has been suspended by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles under the Ohio Financial Responsibility Law because his auto was involved in a collision Aug. 3 and the damage to the other car has not been settled.

Because Hayes' license was suspended, Radeschi ordered him suspended for "incompetence" because he "cannot carry out the ordinary duties of a patrolman on the Department of Police."

Hayes' auto was operated by an unidentified friend when it was involved in the collision over 6 months ago on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd., the chief said in his charges against the patrolman.

Procedure in such cases is set down in state law. The law requires the director to hold a hearing on the chief's charges. If the suspension is upheld, the officer has the right of appeal to the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

The hearing this morning was attended by Chief Radeschi and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper. Copenhaver said Hayes admitted the truth of the charges and said he does not have a valid operator's permit. But the officer indicated he hopes to obtain his license again as soon as possible by obtaining financial responsibility insurance and making arrangements to take care of the damage to the other car, the director said.

The director said he made arrangements to talk with Hayes again tomorrow, when the time will be set for handing down the decision Thursday. No definite length of suspension has been set yet, as that is the director's prerogative under the law.

7 Killed, 4 Injured In Rooming House Fire

Four persons were injured. One, Charles Battles, 58, was in a serious condition with burns over 45 to 55 per cent of his body. Battles was a ball of fire when he leaped from a second story window to icy ground below.

There were 35 persons in the building including the landlady, Clara M. Gillen, 63. Her son, James, said three-quarters of the residents were pensioners.

Hopes To Prove United Support

Nixon's Name Scheduled For Pennsylvania Primary

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is countering Democratic attempts to tag him as a GOP Old Guardsman with efforts to show he has united Republican party support.

As a part of this strategy, Nixon's name is scheduled to go into the April 26 Pennsylvania primary today as an unopposed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) announced Monday that petitions to put Nixon's name on the ballot are being filed with Nixon's knowledge.

An entry in Pennsylvania would bring to eight the primaries in which the vice president's name will be before the voters either directly or represented by a delegate slate.

Nixon thus is matching the number of primaries in which Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) has entered or, in one case, is represented by proxy. In Ohio, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle is running pledged to the Massachusetts senator.

In each instance Nixon has made it clear he has permitted the entry of his name primarily because local Republicans urged the action. They want to heal breaches in the party that go back to the 1952 fight between President Eisenhower and the late Sen. Robert A. Taft for the presidential nomination.

If Nixon brings out a substantial number of Republican voters in all eight states—even though he is unopposed—the vice president's followers will be prepared to claim that the GOP is united behind him.

Of the eight states, Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana cast their votes at the 1952 convention for Taft. New Hampshire and Oregon went for Eisenhower and Pennsylvania gave him a 53-15 margin over Taft. Nixon's home state of California was a holdout for Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Oklahoma Republicans, with no primary, already have pledged their delegation to Nixon in state convention. In 1952 the Oklahomans gave seven votes to Taft, four to Eisenhower and five to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Van Rie's Wife May Be Defense Witness In Trial

BOSTON (AP) — Nella van Rie may be a defense witness at the trial of her radio operator husband, Willem, charged with the shipboard killing of pretty Lynn Kauffman, 23-year-old divorcee.

Defense Counsel W. Langdon Powers said there is a "slight possibility" he may call the defendant's dark-haired wife.

Van Rie's trial, in recess since Saturday noon, enters its 10th day today.

A 33-year-old Indonesian named Gadong, cabin boy aboard the Dutch freighter Utrecht, from which Miss Kauffman disappeared last Sept. 18, was expected to be one of the last prosecution witnesses.

Gadong, flown halfway around the world from Surabaya, may testify about what he did and observed while the Utrecht steamed out of Boston for New York five months ago, resuming a voyage from the Orient.

Lynn Kauffman's battered, half-nude body was found next day, washed ashore on a harbor island.

A medical examiner testified she was beaten and kicked before she died of drowning, and other injuries could have been caused if she had been thrust through a porthole of her cabin.

The prosecution contends Van Rie engaged in a romance with the slight Miss Kauffman during the 44-day voyage from Singapore, that a quarrel ended this affair and that the radio operator beat her in her cabin.

ALL WE HEAR IS "NYET!"

"Nyet" is the Russian word for "no." To 76 million oppressed people behind the Iron Curtain in captive nations, "nyet" is a hated word. "Nyet" to freedom of speech, "nyet" to freedom of the press, "nyet" to the right to know the truth, "nyet" to all the freedoms we Americans take for granted.

But freedom cannot be taken for granted. It has always been won by toil, money and blood and must be zealously guarded.

RADIO FREE EUROPE helps you protect your freedom by bringing the truth and a glimpse of freedom to people who live in the dark world of communist lies.

RADIO FREE EUROPE needs your dollars! Freedom-loving Americans are its only means of support. President Eisenhower himself has warned us not to take freedom for granted, not to take chances with our own future.

Heavy Snow Warnings Go Up In East

By The Associated Press

Gusty northerly winds, heavy snow and near zero temperatures were reported along the southern Nebraska border southward through most of west and central Kansas and the Oklahoma-Texas Panhandle. The storm center moved northeastward out of the south central plains.

Winds up to 30 to 40 m.p.h. whipped the heavy snow covering, making driving conditions hazardous. Falls measured three to six inches during the night in many parts of the storm belt.

Warnings of heavy snow were posted for most of east and central Kansas, southeast Nebraska, Iowa and northwest Missouri, with accumulations of four to eight inches by tonight.

The cold weather also invaded areas along the eastern slopes of the Rockies from east central Wyoming southward into northeast New Mexico, which also was hit by snow.

Chilly weather returned to northern Florida, with temperatures dropping into the 30s. Heavy rains fell in the southern half of Florida. Clear, crisp weather prevailed in other parts of the Southeast and in most sections along the East Coast from northern Florida to New England.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just returned from a funeral. It was the saddest thing I've ever witnessed — and so unnecessary. My head is splitting but instead of sitting around weeping I decided to write you this letter in the hope that such tragedies might be averted in the future.

A 3-year-old neighbor boy climbed on the bathroom sink, opened the medicine cabinet and helped himself to an assortment of high-powered pills. No doubt he thought it was candy.

His mother found him lying on the bathroom floor but it was too late. He was dead when the ambulance arrived.

This was the only son in a family of four girls. The mother is filled with guilt. She keeps saying over and over, "It's my fault! It's my fault!"

I urge every mother who reads this to make a complete check of her household at once. Look in the medicine cabinets, the broom closets, the cupboard. Any liquid or pill - type medicine, cleaning fluid, fly spray or rat poison should be locked up, out of the reach of curious hands.

Dear Friend: My thanks to you for your letter. I'd like to join in a plea that mothers all over the nation act on your excellent suggestion at once.

Payola Echoes

Dear Ann: Will you settle a family fight? Our 10-year-old son is selling his homework. My husband says Nicky is an enterprising kid and will amount to something. I say his materialistic approach to life is shocking and if he's encouraged along these lines he'll be a grasping, greedy adult.

Nicky has always been precocious and gets top marks without too much effort. Last evening when his best buddy left I heard him say: "I'll pay you tomorrow — a dime for the arithmetic answers and a nickel for English."

I asked Nicky what it was all about and he told me. I was shocked and said we'd discuss it when his father came home. We did. His father praised the boy and I lost out completely.

If I'm wrong I want to know. If my husband is wrong I think he'll listen to you. Please step forth. — V.J.

Dear V.J.: What with rigged TV, payola and corruption on every side, it's small wonder a 10-year-old would take to selling homework. Some of our young people are growing up with the philosophy that "The Dollar" is king and how you get it doesn't much matter.

Parents must counteract this 20th century moral decay by setting high standards at home and encouraging personal integrity.

Nicky should be told that selling answers is dishonest and will not be rewarded. He should be encouraged to help his friends and to be of service.

De-Lighted Torch

Dear Ann: I'm 16 and unhappy. A certain fellow takes me out about three times a month. I am crazy about him and he says he likes me very much but never mentions love. The problem is, he has never taken me to a movie, a dance or any place really nice. We only go for rides and wind up necking.

Last week I made up my mind if he didn't take me to a movie I would break up with him. I told him how I felt and he called me a 'gold digger" and left. I miss him very much and wonder now if I did the right thing. — TORCH CARRIER.

Dear Carrier: Use that torch to light the way to a decent relationship. This boy was using you for his own amusement. Don't make the same mistake again. If you want to be treated like a lady you'll have to behave like one.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bishop And Wife Will Report To Area Methodists

Methodists of the Steubenville District will hold a rally at the Masonic Temple at Steubenville Friday to hear a report from their resident bishop and his wife, who recently returned from a 14,000-mile tour of the denominations missionary work in Africa.

Bishop and Mrs. Hazen G. Werner will be speaking in a series of rallies that will carry them into each of the 19 districts in Ohio.

Both will speak at the dinner meeting which begins at 6:30, with Mrs. Werner giving the narration during the showing of color slides they took in the 8 African countries they visited. At 8, Bishop Werner will speak on "Africa - The Mirror of Mankind."

The Rev. Charles Stoneburner, district superintendent, is in charge of arrangements. Reservations are required for the dinner meeting.

The Werners made their visitation in Africa at the direction of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, in keeping with the plan which requires each active bishop to visit one of the foreign mission fields every four years. The district rallies are planned to interpret the mission work and to communicate the conditions within the countries of Africa.

FRANKLIN, Ohio (AP)—James L. Edster, 58, and his 18-year-old son, Jerry, were bound to the grand jury Monday and a 14-year-old boy was earmarked for a Juvenile Court appearance in a series of burglaries. James Edster was charged with receiving and concealing stolen goods and petit larcency; Jerry Edster with breaking and entering and petit larceny. Police said the Edsters were involved in four break-ins at a furniture store and one at an appliance store. The juvenile, officers said, was involved in one break-in at each store.

Plot To Tamper With Jury Bared

Final Arguments In Finch Murder Trial Begin Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jurors in the Finch murder trial, amid reports of a plot to tamper with them, today begin hearing final arguments in the complex case.

The task at hand for the opposing attorneys is trying to sum up 160,000 words of often sensational testimony, making the most of their last chance to stress important points.

Seven women and five men will weigh the lawyers' words, trying to decide whether Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his shapely paramour, Carole Tregoff, planned and carried out the murder of the doctor's wife, or whether Barbara Jean Finch's gunshot death last summer was a tragic accident, as the defense claims.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, his former secretary, are charged with murder and conspiracy. Superior Court Judge Walter R. Evans, in the first order of business today, was to rule on defense motions for dismissal or advised verdicts of acquittal on all counts.

The court also will inform the opposing attorneys exactly what instructions will be given the jury as to possible verdicts.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson conceded Monday that he had heard rumors someone was attempting to approach a juror. Judge Evans said this possibility had figured in his decision to order the panel locked up in a hotel over the long Washington's Birthday weekend.

But McKesson said he didn't have enough information to start an investigation. Evans added that there was nothing to implicate the defense in any way.

One report said the alleged tamper plot was linked to gambling elements and that large sums of money were available. Big sums are said to have been wagered on the trial's outcome, plus pools and handicaps clocking the time the jurors will deliberate.

Fugitive, Captured Saturday, Seen Facing Several Charges

Crum, 32, started a spree of violence by breaking out of Wilmington City Jail at gunpoint.

Police said Crum was involved in shootings and auto thefts and forced two Manchester men to accompany him befor state highway patrolmen halted him at Cherry Fork Saturday.

Elmer Spencer, Adams County prosecutor, said Monday night he had prepared two kidnaping charges for filing today. They involve Trotter and Trotter's son-in-law, William Shelton.

Prosecutor Davis said he plans to file two charges of shooting to kill, two of breaking and entering and one of auto theft.

Davis said Crum admitted in a signed statement his part in two gunfights in Highland County, breaking into a farm home and church and taking a funeral home operator's car at gunpoint.

One officer was wounded critically in the head at Lynchburg, and his partner suffered a minor gunshot wound.

Crum was returned to Wilmington overnight Saturday. Then brought here for questioning.

Celluloid was the first of all plastic materials invented. It was discovered by John Wesley Hyatt, a printer from Albany, N. Y., shortly after the Civil War. He used it to make billiard balls.

His mother found him lying on the bathroom floor but it was too late. He was dead when the ambulance arrived.

This was the only son in a family of four girls. The mother is filled with guilt. She keeps saying over and over, "It's my fault! It's my fault!"

I urge every mother who reads this to make a complete check of her household at once. Look in the medicine cabinets, the broom closets, the cupboard. Any liquid or pill - type medicine, cleaning fluid, fly spray or rat poison should be locked up, out of the reach of curious hands.

A few moments of checking may spare you the most heartbreaking tragedy of a lifetime.

Dear Friend: My thanks to you for your letter. I'd like to join in a plea that mothers all over the nation act on your excellent suggestion at once.

Payola Echoes

Dear Ann: Will you settle a family fight? Our 10-year-old son is selling his homework. My husband says Nicky is an enterprising kid and will amount to something. I say his materialistic approach to life is shocking and if he's encouraged along these lines he'll be a grasping, greedy adult.

Nicky has always been precocious and gets top marks without too much effort. Last evening when his best buddy left I heard him say: "I'll pay you tomorrow — a dime for the arithmetic answers and a nickel for English."

I asked Nicky what it was all about and he told me. I was shocked and said we'd discuss it when his father came home. We did. His father praised the boy and I lost out completely.

If I'm wrong I want to know. If my husband is wrong I think he'll listen to you. Please step forth. — V.J.

Dear V.J.: What with rigged TV, payola and corruption on every side, it's small wonder a 10-year-old would take to selling homework. Some of our young people are growing up with the philosophy that "The Dollar" is king and how you get it doesn't much matter.

Parents must counteract this 20th century moral decay by setting high standards at home and encouraging personal integrity.

Nicky should be told that selling answers is dishonest and will not be rewarded. He should be encouraged to help his friends and to be of service.

De-Lighted Torch

Dear Ann: I'm 16 and unhappy. A certain fellow takes me out about three times a month. I am crazy about him and he says he likes me very much but never mentions love. The problem is, he has never taken me to a movie, a dance or any place really nice. We only go for rides and wind up necking.

Last week I made up my mind if he didn't take me to a movie I would break up with him. I told him how I felt and he called me a 'gold digger" and left. I miss him very much and wonder now if I did the right thing. — TORCH CARRIER.

Dear Carrier: Use that torch to light the way to a decent relationship. This boy was using you for his own amusement. Don't make the same mistake again. If you want to be treated like a lady you'll have to behave like one.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bishop And Wife Will Report To Area Methodists

Methodists of the Steubenville District will hold a rally at the Masonic Temple at Steubenville Friday to hear a report from their resident bishop and his wife, who recently returned from a 14,000-mile tour of the denominations missionary work in Africa.

Bishop and Mrs. Hazen G. Werner will be speaking in a series of rallies that will carry them into each of the 19 districts in Ohio.

Both will speak at the dinner meeting which begins at 6:30, with Mrs. Werner giving the narration during the showing of color slides they took in the 8 African countries they visited. At 8, Bishop Werner will speak on "Africa - The Mirror of Mankind."

The Rev. Charles Stoneburner, district superintendent, is in charge of arrangements. Reservations are required for the dinner meeting.

The Werners made their visitation in Africa at the direction of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, in keeping with the plan which requires each active bishop to visit one of the foreign mission fields every four years. The district rallies are planned to interpret the mission work and to communicate the conditions within the countries of Africa.

FRANKLIN, Ohio (AP)—James L. Edster, 58, and his 18-year-old son, Jerry, were bound to the grand jury Monday and a 14-year-old boy was earmarked for a Juvenile Court appearance in a series of burglaries. James Edster was charged with receiving and concealing stolen goods and petit larcency; Jerry Edster with breaking and entering and petit larceny. Police said the Edsters were involved in four break-ins at a furniture store and one at an appliance store. The juvenile, officers said, was involved in one break-in at each store.

Plot To Tamper With Jury Bared

Final Arguments In Finch Murder Trial Begin Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jurors in the Finch murder trial, amid reports of a plot to tamper with them, today begin hearing final arguments in the complex case.

The task at hand for the opposing attorneys is trying to sum up 160,000 words of often sensational testimony, making the most of their last chance to stress important points.

Seven women and five men will weigh the lawyers' words, trying to decide whether Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his shapely paramour, Carole Tregoff, planned and carried out the murder of the doctor's wife, or whether Barbara Jean Finch's gunshot death last summer was a tragic accident, as the defense claims.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, his former secretary, are charged with murder and conspiracy. Superior Court Judge Walter R. Evans, in the first order of business today, was to rule on defense motions for dismissal or advised verdicts of acquittal on all counts.

The court also will inform the opposing attorneys exactly what instructions will be given the jury as to possible verdicts.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson conceded Monday that he had heard rumors someone was attempting to approach a juror. Judge Evans said this possibility had figured in his decision to order the panel locked up in a hotel over the long Washington's Birthday weekend.

But McKesson said he didn't have enough information to start an investigation. Evans added that there was nothing to implicate the defense in any way.

One report said the alleged tamper plot was linked to gambling elements and that large sums of money were available. Big sums are said to have been wagered on the trial's outcome, plus pools and handicaps clocking the time the jurors will deliberate.

Fugitive, Captured Saturday, Seen Facing Several Charges

Crum, 32, started a spree of violence by breaking out of Wilmington City Jail at gunpoint.

Police said Crum was involved in shootings and auto thefts and forced two Manchester men to accompany him befor state highway patrolmen halted him at Cherry Fork Saturday.

Elmer Spencer, Adams County prosecutor, said Monday night he had prepared two kidnaping charges for filing today. They involve Trotter and Trotter's son-in-law, William Shelton.

Prosecutor Davis said he plans to file two charges of shooting to kill, two of breaking and entering and one of auto theft.

Davis said Crum admitted in a signed statement his part in two gunfights in Highland County, breaking into a farm home and church and taking a funeral home operator's car at gunpoint.

Crum was returned to Wilmington overnight Saturday. Then brought here for questioning.

Celluloid was the first of all plastic materials invented. It was discovered by John Wesley Hyatt, a printer from Albany, N. Y., shortly after the Civil War. He used it to make billiard balls.

(Columbiana County "A" Tournament at United)
Fairfield-Waterford vs. Salineville

Midland can wrap up another Section 8 title with a victory over a mediocre Freedom team. Everything is in Midland's favor. The Leopards will be on their home floor and have an earlier 76-65 victory over Freedom.

A win would give Midland an 11-1 Section record. The Leopards' first-place spot in the league standings came after Beaver upset New Brighton to knock the Lions out of a tie for the lead.

Two Columbiana County rivals clash head-on when United visits Beaver Local. It will mark the finale for both teams.

The Rams also have a game with West Alexander, which was postponed from Friday. It has not been rescheduled as yet.

Chester visits Toronto, where the Panthers will be seeking revenge for an earlier 65-50 setback. Chester is 5-13 for the season.

Thursday the Class "AA" sectional at Struthers will get under way, while the semi-finals in the Class "A" Jefferson County tourney will be staged at Brilliant.

Lisbon and Youngstown Woodrow Wilson open the Struthers tourney at 6:15 Thursday, followed by Columbiana and Struthers at 7:30. This year marks the first time that Columbiana has competed in Class "AA".

The 8:45 game Thursday pits East Palestine against United.

On Friday, Hubbard and Canfield open the action at Struthers at 6:15, then Coach Jack Frontone leads his Beaver Local squad against Poland at 7:30.

Newell meets West Liberty at 7 in the Section 1-A opener, while New Cumberland takes the floor against Bethany. Finals in the Section 1-A tourney will be held on Saturday.

Saturday a champion will be crowned in the Columbiana County Class "A" tourney at United. Only two teams — Salineville and Fairfield-Waterford — will compete this season, since United has become a Class "AA" school.

ELHS, Big Red Meet In Sectional Opener

Tigers To Face Springfield

East Liverpool jumped right into the Sectional Class "AA" Tournament fire Monday night when Coach Jim Harris drew seeded Steubenville Big Red.

The Potters and Coach Ang Vacarro's team also will receive the distinction of opening the 1960 version of the Sectional play next Monday at 7 p. m. at the Beacom Memorial Gymnasium in Wellsville.

Wellsville drew Springfield Local of New Amsterdam in the Tuesday night game at 7.

In the second game at 8:15 next Monday, Wintersville and Jefferson Union will clash with the winner of this contest meeting the survivor of the East Liverpool-Big Red battle on Wednesday.

The Central-Toronto survivor will meet the winner of the Wellsville-Springfield game on Thursday at 8 p. m.

The tournament will run Monday through Thursday. Teams will rest on Friday and the finals will be held Saturday, Lowe said.

Steubenville Big Red—East Liverpool's opponent—posted a 13-4 record in regular season play and are led by two of the Ohio Valley's top scorers, Sandy Williams and Phil Musgrave.

Steubenville was the same team that eliminated East Liverpool in the semi-finals a year ago by an 86-59 score, then went on to capture the tournament.

Next Monday's game will mark the first tourney start at East Liverpool for Harris.

Four of the eight teams show losing season records. Wintersville with only one game remaining hasn't tasted victory this season, losing 15 straight.

Oscar Held To 16 Points But Ties Baylor's Mark

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fabulous Big O, winding up what for him was a mediocre two-game tour of Texas, managed six field goals Monday night in Cincinnati's 85-54 rout of North Texas State to tie Elgin Baylor's all-time career record of 956 field goals.

But while Oscar was held to only 16 points, Houston shoved the Bearcats toward another Missouri Valley Conference championship and another NCAA tournament by snapping Bradley's 15-game winning streak, 63-58.

The flub by Bradley, the nation's No. 3 team in the new Associated Press poll, dropped the Braves a game behind Cincinnati with three games to go for each club in their mighty MVC duel. If Cincinnati can win its last three conference games—and it'll be naturally favored over Wichita, Tulsa and Drake—it has the title and an NCAA berth in the bag.

Georgia Tech and Notre Dame officially joined the NCAA tournament family, the Irish (15-7) as an at-large selection for the first round at Lexington, Ky. March 8, and Tech by clinching the Southeastern Conference spot with a 69-55 overtime victory over Florida.

Auburn stayed even with Tech at 11-2 in the SEC with one game remaining after a 72-63 decision over Tennessee but the Tigers are on NCAA probation and ineligible for the tournament. Runner - up Kentucky, 10-3 after whipping Alabama 75-55, still could tie Tech but Tech would still get the berth in that event since it beat Kentucky twice during the regular season.

In other top games, New Mexico State grabbed the Border Conference lead from West Texas by a half-game with a 92-59 thrashing of the erstwhile pace-setters; Indiana rolled to its ninth straight victory 92-78 over Illinois to keep its mathematical chance behind unbeaten Ohio State in the Big Ten race; and Missouri whipped Colorado 82-73 and knocked the Buffs out of a three-way tie for the Big Eight lead with idle Kansas and Kansas State.

Wake Forest (18-6) prepping for the big Atlantic Coast Conference tournament next week, thumped NIT-bound Villanova 89-70 behind 26 points from Billy Packer, 21 from Dave Budd and 20 from Lennie Chappell.

Other major results included: Miami, Fla.'s 104-95 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan for a 22-3 record; Oklahoma 50 Nebraska 49, Iowa 78 Purdue 68, Duke 79 Virginia 63, Northwestern 71 Michigan State 69, Iowa 78 Purdue 68, Wisconsin 88 Michigan 82 in overtime, Arkansas 94 Rice 74, and Manhattan 109 CCNY 67.

Skating Queen Has Big Lead

Carol Should Win For U.S.

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Barring an amazing upset, the Stars and Stripes of the United States should flutter high on the Olympic pole today for the first time in the eighth Winter Olympics.

Already far ahead after completion of the compulsory figures, lovely Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., was rated a 1 to 100 shot to realize a 15-year ambition and win the Olympic figure skating gold medal—the only prize that has eluded her so far.

The pert, 20-year-old skating queen stepped on the ice for the free skating finale today with an almost unbeatable lead over her arch - rival, 18-year-old Sjoukje Dijkstra of Holland. Carol, the fourtime world champion, had 9 ordinals — a perfect rating from the nine judges — and 837.8 points compared to the European champion's 20 ordinals and 792 points.

Carol was far in front despite some eyebrow-lifting scoring on the fifth and final compulsory figure Monday. Five of the nine judges gave Miss Dijkstra more points on this difficult backward bracket change bracket figure than they credited to Carol. One other official had them even. Several members of the U. S. family charged the judges upgraded the Dutch girl.

The Americans—shut out of the first 11 of the 27 championships—had another hope in the women's giant slalom. Penny Pitou, of Gilford, N.H., who was second in the downhill, and Betsy Snite, of Norwich, Vt., matched their skill and daring against Europe's best in the giant slalom on Papoose Peak.

There was virtually no hope at all for Uncle Sam in the remainder of the program. He didn't have a ghost of a chance in the 3,000-meter women's speed skating, an event right up the Soviet Union's alley, or in the men's 15-kilometer (9.6 miles) cross-country ski race.

Sixten Jernberg, Sweden's "king of the skis" and winner of the 30-kilometer gold medal, aimed to become the first double gold medal winner of the games by taking this race.

Monday was another black day for the Yanks. In the fourth day of competition, the gold medals went to France, the U.S.S.R. and Germany, and the Soviet Union rolled up its advantage in the unofficial team point scoring.

The Soviets had 86½ points, Germany 48, Sweden 29, the U.S.A. 16, Switzerland 15, Canada and Austria 13 each, Finland and Poland 11 each, Italy 8, Norway 6, Japan 3½.

The best the Americans could do in individual competition was eighth place in the women's 1,000-meter speed skating. Jeanne Ashworth of Wilmington, Mass., set a national record of 1:36.5 in the event, won by the Soviet's Klara Guseva in 1:34.1.

Jean Vuarnet, a handsome, 27-year-old Frenchman who was told to "go for broke" in his last big-time fling, captured the downhill in 2:06.0 for the dangerous, two-mile journey down ice-topped Squaw Peak.

Georg Thoma, a stocky, 22-year-old mail carrier from Germany's Black Forest, upset the Scandinavian and Soviet favorites in winning the Nordic combined jumping and cross-country skiing with 457.9 points.

The 5-6, 147-pound West German added a fourth place in the cross-county to his first in the jumping to beat Norway's Tormod Knutsen.

Hockey provided a bright note for the hosts. The American hockey team, paced by Minnesotan Roger Christian's three-goal performance, defeated Sweden 6-3, in the opening round of the final Olympic hockey championship tournament.

The Soviet Union downed scrappy Czechoslovakia 8-5, and Canada trounced Germany 12-0 in the other openers.

Henry Aaron Inks Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP) — General Manager John McHale of the Milwaukee Braves breathed a sigh of relief Monday as slugger Henry Aaron came into the fold for 1960.

With the signing of the National League batting champion the contract situation brightened considerably for McHale. He has been the target for the ire of players who claim they weren't offered what they are worth.

And indications are that at least for the present Aaron, who hit .355 last season, is the highest paid member of the team. He received an estimated $35,000 last year and was pushing for a raise, which he apparently got.

McHale still has 12 Braves to sign. They include Lew Burdett, Warren Spahn, Johnny Logan, Joey Jay, Bob Rush, Wes Covington, Juan Pizarro, Joe Adcock, Bob Avila, Felix Mantilla and Chuck Lau.

Burdette had the contract pot boiling recently when he returned his contract to McHale and said he wouldn't sign for what he was offered until Milwaukee's stadium froze over. Similar sentiments were expressed by other players.

McHale insists, however, that the Braves should have won the pennant last year. He says this has to be a determining factor in what salaries will be.

Lakers Will Ask NBA OK To Move To Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakes have played three of their National Basketball Assn. games in Los Angeles and President Bob Short is convinced his team should make its home here next season.

The Lakers bowed to the St. Louis Hawks Monday night, 113-103, before 5,324. They attracted over 10,000 when they played the Philadelphia Warriors in a single game last month and their two-game series with the Hawks pulled more than 12,000.

St. Louis' victory last night was its 8th in 11 starts against the Lakers, whose coach, Jim Pollard, was ejected for protesting a personal foul call.

Of the turnout, Short said: "The response of Los Angeles has been overwhelming. I am going to ask the NBA for permission to move our team to Los Angeles next season. We will need the vote of six of the eight owners."

Short said several other cities, including Washington and Pittsburgh, would be considered by the other owners. But he added:

Veteran St. Louis center Larry Foust racked up his 10,000th point in the third quarter Monday night and the game was stopped while the crowd gave him a cheer and he was awarded the ball.

Double Feature Is Set At Midland Mat Show

In the other double feature event, Johnny Valentine, undefeated television wrestling champion, will oppose Arnold Skalland, the German strong boy, in the best-two-out-of-three falls or a 60-minute time limit.

Two half-hour matches round out the show as Swede Hansen meets Luis Martinex in one preliminary and Marvin Merce takes on Pamfero Firpo, who replaces Wayne Bock. Bock is sidelined because of a leg injury.

Tickets are on sale in East Liverpool at Heimie's and Reark's and at Bahm's Pharmacy and George's Pharmacy in Midland.

Salem will complete its season at home with Girard and Fairfield-Waterford goes to Goshen for its finale.

Tournament action will take place at four sites this week.

Thursday the Class "AA" sectional at Struthers will get under way, while the semi-finals in the Class "A" Jefferson County tourney will be staged at Brilliant.

Lisbon and Youngstown Woodrow Wilson open the Struthers tourney at 6:15 Thursday, followed by Columbiana and Struthers at 7:30. This year marks the first time that Columbiana has competed in Class "AA".

The 8:45 game Thursday pits East Palestine against United.

On Friday, Hubbard and Canfield open the action at Struthers at 6:15, then Coach Jack Frontone leads his Beaver Local squad against Poland at 7:30.

Newell meets West Liberty at 7 in the Section 1-A opener, while New Cumberland takes the floor against Bethany. Finals in the Section 1-A tourney will be held on Saturday.

Two regularly scheduled games Friday find Weirton visiting East Liverpool and Chester completing its season at home with Follansbee.

Saturday a champion will be crowned in the Columbiana County Class "A" tourney at United. Only two teams — Salineville and Fairfield-Waterford — will compete this season, since United has become a Class "AA" school.

Midland can wrap up another Section 8 title with a victory over a mediocre Freedom team. Everything is in Midland's favor. The Leopards will be on their home floor and have an earlier 76-65 victory over Freedom.

A win would give Midland an 11-1 Section record. The Leopards' first-place spot in the league standings came after Beaver upset New Brighton to knock the Lions out of a tie for the lead.

Two Columbiana County rivals clash head-on when United visits Beaver Local. It will mark the finale for both teams.

South Side, which can only hope for Bridgeville to lose its final section game, visits Peters Township.

The Potters and Coach Ang Vacarro's team also will receive the distinction of opening the 1960 version of the Sectional play next Monday at 7 p. m. at the Beacom Memorial Gymnasium in Wellsville.

Jean Vuarnet, a handsome, 27-year-old Frenchman who was told to "go for broke" in his last big-time fling, captured the downhill in 2:06.0 for the dangerous, two-mile journey down ice-topped Squaw Peak.

Georg Thoma, a stocky, 22-year-old mail carrier from Germany's Black Forest, upset the Scandinavian and Soviet favorites in winning the Nordic combined jumping and cross-country skiing with 457.9 points.

The 5-6, 147-pound West German added a fourth place in the cross-county to his first in the jumping to beat Norway's Tormod Knutsen.

Hockey provided a bright note for the hosts. The American hockey team, paced by Minnesotan Roger Christian's three-goal performance, defeated Sweden 6-3, in the opening round of the final Olympic hockey championship tournament.

The Soviet Union downed scrappy Czechoslovakia 8-5, and Canada trounced Germany 12-0 in the other openers.

Henry Aaron Inks Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP) — General Manager John McHale of the Milwaukee Braves breathed a sigh of relief Monday as slugger Henry Aaron came into the fold for 1960.

With the signing of the National League batting champion the contract situation brightened considerably for McHale. He has been the target for the ire of players who claim they weren't offered what they are worth.

And indications are that at least for the present Aaron, who hit .355 last season, is the highest paid member of the team. He received an estimated $35,000 last year and was pushing for a raise, which he apparently got.

McHale still has 12 Braves to sign. They include Lew Burdett, Warren Spahn, Johnny Logan, Joey Jay, Bob Rush, Wes Covington, Juan Pizarro, Joe Adcock, Bob Avila, Felix Mantilla and Chuck Lau.

Burdette had the contract pot boiling recently when he returned his contract to McHale and said he wouldn't sign for what he was offered until Milwaukee's stadium froze over. Similar sentiments were expressed by other players.

McHale insists, however, that the Braves should have won the pennant last year. He says this has to be a determining factor in what salaries will be.

Double Feature Is Set At Midland Mat Show

A battle of giants will be one of two features at Midland's first wrestling show Thursday at 8:30 in the high school gymnasium.

Wright stands 6-foot-7 and weighs 260. Kelly, who is 6-foot-2, tips the scales at 290.

In the other double feature event, Johnny Valentine, undefeated television wrestling champion, will oppose Arnold Skalland, the German strong boy, in the best-two-out-of-three falls or a 60-minute time limit.

Two half-hour matches round out the show as Swede Hansen meets Luis Martinez in one preliminary and Marvin Merce takes on Pamfero Firpo, who replaces Wayne Bock. Bock is sidelined because of a leg injury.

Tickets are on sale in East Liverpool at Heimie's and Reark's and at Bahm's Pharmacy and George's Pharmacy in Midland.

Oscar Held To 16 Points But Ties Baylor's Mark

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oscar Robertson has another line in major college basketball's record book today and his top-ranked Cincinnati Bearcats are virtually assured of their third crack at the NCAA championship.

The fabulous Big O, winding up what for him was a mediocre two-game tour of Texas, managed six field goals Monday night in Cincinnati's 85-54 rout of North Texas State to tie Elgin Baylor's all-time career record of 956 field goals.

But while Oscar was held to only 16 points, Houston shoved the Bearcats toward another Missouri Valley Conference championship and another NCAA tournament by snapping Bradley's 15-game winning streak, 63-58.

The flub by Bradley, the nation's No. 3 team in the new Associated Press poll, dropped the Braves a game behind Cincinnati with three games to go for each club in their mighty MVC duel. If Cincinnati can win its last three conference games—and it'll be naturally favored over Wichita, Tulsa and Drake—it has the title and an NCAA berth in the bag.

Georgia Tech and Notre Dame officially joined the NCAA tournament family, the Irish (15-7) as an at-large selection for the first round at Lexington, Ky. March 8, and Tech by clinching the Southeastern Conference spot with a 69-55 overtime victory over Florida.

Auburn stayed even with Tech at 11-2 in the SEC with one game remaining after a 72-63 decision over Tennessee but the Tigers are on NCAA probation and ineligible for the tournament. Runner - up Kentucky, 10-3 after whipping Alabama 75-55, still could tie Tech but Tech would still get the berth in that event since it beat Kentucky twice during the regular season.

In other top games, New Mexico State grabbed the Border Conference lead from West Texas by a half-game with a 92-59 thrashing of the erstwhile pace-setters; Indiana rolled to its ninth straight victory 92-78 over Illinois to keep its mathematical chance behind unbeaten Ohio State in the Big Ten race; and Missouri whipped Colorado 82-73 and knocked the Buffs out of a three-way tie for the Big Eight lead with idle Kansas and Kansas State.

Wake Forest (18-6) prepping for the big Atlantic Coast Conference tournament next week, thumped NIT-bound Villanova 89-70 behind 26 points from Billy Packer, 21 from Dave Budd and 20 from Lennie Chappell.

Other major results included: Miami, Fla.'s 104-95 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan for a 22-3 record; Oklahoma 50 Nebraska 49, Iowa 78 Purdue 68, Duke 79 Virginia 63, Northwestern 71 Michigan State 69, Iowa 78 Purdue 68, Wisconsin 88 Michigan 82 in overtime, Arkansas 94 Rice 74, and Manhattan 109 CCNY 67.

Lakers Will Ask NBA OK To Move To Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakes have played three of their National Basketball Assn. games in Los Angeles and President Bob Short is convinced his team should make its home here next season.

The Lakers bowed to the St. Louis Hawks Monday night, 113-103, before 5,324. They attracted over 10,000 when they played the Philadelphia Warriors in a single game last month and their two-game series with the Hawks pulled more than 12,000.

St. Louis' victory last night was its 8th in 11 starts against the Lakers, whose coach, Jim Pollard, was ejected for protesting a personal foul call.

Of the turnout, Short said: "The response of Los Angeles has been overwhelming. I am going to ask the NBA for permission to move our team to Los Angeles next season. We will need the vote of six of the eight owners."

Short said several other cities, including Washington and Pittsburgh, would be considered by the other owners. But he added:

"It's my view that Los Angeles would be the best place to move the franchise."

Veteran St. Louis center Larry Foust racked up his 10,000th point in the third quarter Monday night and the game was stopped while the crowd gave him a cheer and he was awarded the ball.

Cincy Holds Cage Lead; Ohio State In 2nd Place

By JACK HAND

Cincinnati still leads the college basketball parade with the end in sight but it has a new challenger in Ohio State which has moved into second place in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Ohio State's victories over Illinois and Michigan State earned enough support to give the Buckeyes the No. 2 spot in a scramble with Bradley and California.

St. Bonaventure advanced into the top 10 for the first time by knocking off Villanova and Marquette.

TV Cowboys Become A Comedy Line

The signs are unmistakable. The Western has become a laughing matter!

And if the evolution of the TV cowboy has advanced to the joke-butt status, can the end of his popularity be far behind? It would seem not, for isn't it but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous!

Marie Torre

While Westerns are spoofing other Westerns, and comedians are making humorous hay out of sagebrush situations, the satirical bang-bang theme is now being carried over into the field of television specials.

MAX LIEBMAN'S "The American Cowboy" was the first full-hour spoof of its kind, and now there's promise of another, this one by Phil Silvers and writer Nat Hiken, the same pair that lavished inspired humor on the Sgt. Bilko series.

Their comedy genius is directed now at "The Slowest Gun in the West," a CBS special with Silvers as the man of the title, and an equally luminous guest roster, from Jack Benny to James Arness.

"We'll play it straight, touch on all the Western cliches," says Silvers. "The only non-cliche thing about the script is me. Can you picture me as the slowest gun in the West"

Silvers' regard for the inherent elements of humor in the script is such that he originally planned to serve the presentation for the fall, intending to begin the new season "with a splash." But he changed his mind and advanced the date to May 7.

By fall — who knows? — Westerns might have fallen so low they might not even be good enough for a laugh.

His patience, not to mention his persistence, he outlasted the original "Playhouse 90" rejection of his much-publicized and controversial script about the Warsaw ghetto, "The Presence of Mine Enemies."

The drama, to be presented in May, focuses on the searching investigation of a gentle and religious man to find a code of morality by which to survive in a society which has turned its back on religion.

SITUATION COMEDY, relegated to stepchild status this season, is expected to dominate the scene in TV's next round. About 70 pilots with comedy plots are under preparation in Hollywood. . . .

Steve Allen awaits NBC word on a curtailment in his TV schedule next season. Allen favors a once-a-month show, but this, he allows, is wishful thinking. . . .

Officials of Universal Pictures are not amused by the humor of the team of Dan Rowan and Dick Martin. In detailing their professional misfortunes recently, the wags noted that after they completed their first and only motion picture, the movie company "folded or something." The Universal people point out that the company is enjoying excellent financial health—at the moment anyway! . .

Observing the type casting rules, producer Hubbell Robinson has engaged Boris Karloff, most famous of the Hollywood bogey men, to act as host of "Thriller," a mystery series on NBC's fall line-up. . . .

Disc jockeys are in for additional trouble. The Internal Revenue Service says it will be investigating their tax returns, looking not only for reported cash payments, but also for gifts of value, including paid vacations. As an Internal Revenue man said, the public always watches closely what the tax men do when payola scandals come to light.

New Garbage Contract Gets Lisbon Study

LISBON — Village Council Monday night held a lengthy discussion with William Warmuth, operator of the B. & W. Sanitation Service, to provide garbage and refuse collection but took no action pending further study. The company, which has offered a contract, operates from Salem R. D. 5.

No prices were mentioned but householders would pay the hauler as the village has no funds for the service. The company would use modern, packer-type trucks.

In other business, the police committee recommended that Council purchase a new cruiser rather than rent one as was proposed at the last meeting.

Clerk Ray Hempstead was ordered to prepare specifications for bids, one for trade-in of the 1956 Plymouth with 86,000 miles on it and the other without. He is to have the specifications ready by next Council meeting March 14.

Council also discussed recommendations made by a representative of the State Highway Department District 11 at New Philadelphia who inspected traffic lights last week. He urged that the lights be put back on 60-cycle operation. They are now on 50 cycles. Council will have them changed to 60 and then request the state to make a survey and determine how they should be set so as to give preference to through traffic on Routes 30 and 45.

Council entered into an agreement with Tom Pike of near Guilford Lake to repair the village's old canon. He will restore the relic for display at his historic museum by July 15. It will be on display for 10 years with a plaque showing that it belongs to the village.

Council authorized the erection of a new street light on Nelson Ave. just north of the Village Hall and to increase the wattage in one at Nelson and E. Chestnut St. The improvement will cost the village $9.30 more per month.

Howard Adams of Salineville, a heavy equipment representative, discussed new equipment but councilmen said they are in the process on checking on present equipment and will not be interested until this is completed.

An ordinance naming an alley between N. Market St. and N. Beaver St., from Chestnut St. north to High St., as Buckeye Dr. was given first reading.

A resolution was enacted notifying two property owners to replace sidewalk, one on N. Market St. just north of Park Ave. and the other near the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on E. Lincoln Way. If they do not replace the defective walks, Council will have the work done and place the costs on their tax duplicates. Enabling legislation was passed for the state to widen Route 164 to 20 feet for about 200 feet inside the village limits. There will be no charge to the village as the State Highway Department is widening about a quarter of a mile of Route 164 at the junction with Route 517 as a safety measure.

Hempstead was authorized to transfer $300 from the general fund to the Civil Defense fund for electricity at two CD locations.

Volunteer firemen requested two 1½-inch spray nozzles and sirens and red lights for their private cars. Mayor Dean Stockman advised the fire chief or his assistant to present the specifications in person. Council would act on them.

Green St. has been blocked off for sledding and some others were recommended but no definite actoin was taken last night.

Mayor Stockman gave the street committee two complaints, one of a gas truck parking on Caldwell Ave. and another in which an autoist said she is unable to park or enter her driveway on Vine St. He also requested that the clerk write a letter of thanks to the D. W. Dickey Feed Co., which loaned village two trucks and a high-lift to help clear streets of snow the past week.

Chester Band Mothers To Buy 6 Instruments

Plans for the purchase of six instruments for the Chester High School band were made at a meeting of the Purple and Gold Band Mothers Monday night at the high school.

It was announced the annual band banquet has been changed from April 30 to April 28. Birthday calendar kits were distributed for the sale now under way.

Mrs. Dale Hoyt, chairman, said the merchandise club is now being organized. Lunch was served 14 by Mrs. Herman Wilson and Mrs. Garnet Ash.

Mrs. Alton Johnson, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be March 28.

Short Circuit Blamed

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Fire which did an estimated $25,000 damage to the manor house at Punderson Lake State Park was blamed on a short circuit in a TV set. The blaze Monday routed six guests. Firemen from Newbury worked three hours to control the fire, confined to the "tower room" on the second floor.

Second In Line To Throne

Crown Princess Of Japan Has First Child—A Son

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Princess Michiko gave birth today to a healthy, 5-pound, 9-ounce son who became second in the line of succession to the Japanese throne.

The baby is the first child born to Crown Prince Akihito and the daughter of the commoner flour manufacturer he married last April 10. The birth had not been expected for another week.

An announcement said both mother and child were well.

The princess entered the Imperial Household hospital at 1:50 a.m. Monday and the baby was born 14 hours and 25 minutes later.

The delivery was described as natural, apparently meaning without artificial aid of any type.

The young father, in accordance with tradition, waited at his home five miles from the hospital. At news of the birth, he rushed to the hospital to see his son and his wife.

Emperor Hirohito will give the baby his name and title on Feb. 29 in the ancient ceremony of the first bath. Until then he will be known as "shinno," or imperial prince.

The birth aroused widespread public joy.

People jammed the palaze plaza to hear the news. Shouts of "banzai! banzai!"—may you live 10,000 years—rang through the square. A helicopter sent up by a Tokyo department store trailed a streamer "congratulations, birth of imperial child."

4th Anniversary Set Saturday At Center In Midland

The Midland Hi-Spot Youth Center will observe its fourth anniversary Saturday from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. with a "Heart Hop" and "open house," Mrs. William Spisak, director, said.

Parents, representatives of organizations and others are invited to attend and inspect the center.

Entertainment will include the Gay Tunes of Greensburg, a four-piece combo, making its second appearance. The student committee will put up decorations Thursday and Friday at 7 p. m.

The center was established after Mrs. Spisak asked Council in 1955 for renovations for the third-floor of the Borough Building for recreational needs. The third floor had been vacant about two years during remodeling of the building.

Membership has been between 135 and 150 each year and between 200 and 300 students attend the weekly sessions.

The center is for students 13 to 19 and provides a place where they can gather socially at specified times to enjoy planned activities that are supervised.

The center holds regular sessions on Friday evenings except when school events are played away, then they are held Saturday evenings. Most holidays are marked.

The center's free admission dance will not be held tonight after Lincoln's last basketball game of the season due to sickness and the weather. It will be held next Monday from 8 to 11.

A party for the team and players and their guests will not be held until after Lent, she said. Saturday's event will be the last until the "Easter Ball," April 18.

Shorter sessions will be observed during the Lenten season.

Public Discussion Set On School Site Choice

IRONDALE—Voters in the Stanton Local School District will attend a citizens' public meeting tonight at 8 for a discussion of the site for a proposed $1½ million high school.

Several hundred are expected to attend the session in the gymnasium of Stanton High School.

Residents of Irondale, Hammondsville, Port Homer, Stratton and Empire will attend. Those planning to speak on the site for the new building must register at the door when entering, school officials said.

The former Jenny Ann Lindstrom, 21, eloped Sunday with Callaway, scion of a Georgia industrial family. Callaway, 28, is business manager of the Watkins Johnson Electronics Co. in suburban Palo Alto, but lives in San Francisco.

The ceremony was preformed in Elko, Nev.

Profiteering Is Denied By Drug Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized drug manufacturers denied vigorously today their industry is profiteering against the sick, or dealing in monopolistic practices.

Dr. Austin Smith of Washington, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn., contended instead that drugs and medicines are "the real bargain" for the buying public today. His testimony was prepared for renewed hearings by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

At earlier hearings, the subcommittee has heard testimony that some big manufacturers have received markups as big as several thousand per cent on medicines sold to patients for up to 50 cents a dose.

Vigorously defending medicine prices as reasonable, he said:

"Americans would be paying a billion dollars a year more for drugs if the price of medicine in the past few years had gone up only as much as the total cost of living."

He said drug prices rose 3 per cent in the last 10 years while the average wholesale price of all industrial products went up 22 per cent.

TV Cowboys Become A Comedy Line

The signs are unmistakable. The Western has become a laughing matter!

And if the evolution of the TV cowboy has advanced to the joke - butt status, can the end of his popularity be far behind? It would seem not, for isn't it but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous! While Westerns are spoofing other Westerns, and comedians are making humorous hay out of sagebrush situations, the satirical bang-bang theme is now being carried over into the field of television specials.

Marie Torre

MAX LIEBMAN'S "The American Cowboy" was the first full-hour spoof of its kind, and now there's promise of another, this one by Phil Silvers and writer Nat Hiken, the same pair that lavished inspired humor on the Sgt. Bilko series.

Their comedy genius is directed now at "The Slowest Gun in the West," a CBS special with Silvers as the man of the title, and an equally luminous guest roster, from Jack Benny to James Arness.

"We'll play it straight, touch on all the Western cliches," says Silvers. "The only non-cliche thing about the script is me. Can you picture me as the slowest gun in the West"

Silvers' regard for the inherent elements of humor in the script is such that he originally planned to serve the presentation for the fall, intending to begin the new season "with a splash." But he changed his mind and advanced the date to May 7.

By fall — who knows? — Westerns might have fallen so low they might not even be good enough for a laugh.

His patience, not to mention his persistence, he outlasted the original "Playhouse 90" rejection of his much - publicized and controversial script about the Warsaw ghetto, "The Presence of Mine Enemies."

The drama, to be presented in May, focuses on the searching investigation of a gentle and religious man to find a code of morality by which to survive in a society which has turned its back on religion.

SITUATION COMEDY, relegated to stepchild status this season, is expected to dominate the scene in TV's next round. About 70 pilots with comedy plots are under preparation in Hollywood. . . .

Steve Allen awaits NBC word on a curtailment in his TV schedule next season. Allen favors a once-a-month show, but this, he allows, is wishful thinking. . . .

Officials of Universal Pictures are not amused by the humor of the team of Dan Rowan and Dick Martin. In detailing their professional misfortunes recentlly, the wags noted that after they completed their first and only motion picture, the movie company "folded or something." The Universal people point out that the company is enjoying excellent financial health—at the moment anyway! . .

Observing the type casting rules, producer Hubbell Robinson has engaged Boris Karloff, most famous of the Hollywood bogey men, to act as host of "Thriller," a mystery series on NBC's fall lineup. . . .

Disc jockeys are in for additional trouble. The Internal Revenue Service says it will be investigating their tax returns, looking not only for reported cash payments, but also for gifts of value, including paid vacations. As an Internal Revenue man said, the public always watches closely what the tax men do when payola scandals come to light.

New Garbage Contract Gets Lisbon Study

LISBON — Village Council Monday night held a lengthy discussion with William Warmuth, operator of the B. & W. Sanitation Service, to provide garbage and refuse collection but took no action pending further study. The company, which has offered a contract, operates from Salem R. D. 5.

No prices were mentioned but householders would pay the hauler as the village has no funds for the service. The company would use modern, packer-type trucks.

At present, a district hauler collects refuse in an open truck and householders pay him weekly.

In other business, the police committee recommended that Council purchase a new cruiser rather than rent one as was proposed at the last meeting.

Clerk Ray Hempstead was ordered to prepare specifications for bids, one for trade-in of the 1956 Plymouth with 86,000 miles on it and the other without. He is to have the specifications ready by next Council meeting March 14.

Council also discussed recommendations made by a representative of the State Highway Department District 11 at New Philadelphia who inspected traffic lights last week. He urged that the lights be put back on 60-cycle operation. They are now on 50 cycles. Council will have them changed to 60 and then request the state to make a survey and determine how they should be set so as to give preference to through traffic on Routes 30 and 45.

Council entered into an agreement with Tom Pike of near Guilford Lake to repair the village's old canon. He will restore the relic for display at his historic museum by July 15. It will be on display for 10 years with a plaque showing that it belongs to the village.

Council authorized the erection of a new street light on Nelson Ave. just north of the Village Hall and to increase the wattage in one at Nelson and E. Chestnut St. The improvement will cost the village $9.30 more per month.

Howard Adams of Salineville, a heavy equipment representative, discussed new equipment but councilmen said they are in the process on checking on present equipment and will not be interested until this is completed.

An ordinance naming an alley between N. Market St. and N. Beaver St., from Chestnut St. north to High St., as Buckeye Dr. was given first reading.

A resolution was enacted notifying two property owners to replace sidewalk, one on N. Market St. just north of Park Ave. and the other near the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on E. Lincoln Way. If they do not replace the defective walks, Council will have the work done and place the costs on their tax duplicates. Enabling legislation was passed for the state to widen Route 164 to 20 feet for about 200 feet inside the village limits. There will be no charge to the village as the State Highway Department is widening about a quarter of a mile of Route 164 at the junction with Route 517 as a safety measure.

Hempstead was authorized to transfer $300 from the general fund to the Civil Defense fund for electricity at two CD locations.

Volunteer firemen requested two 1½-inch spray nozzles and sirens and red lights for their private cars. Mayor Dean Stockman advised the fire chief or his assistant to present the specifications in person. Council would act on them.

Green St. has been blocked off for sledding and some others were recommended but no definite actoin was taken last night.

Mayor Stockman gave the street committee two complaints, one of a gas truck parking on Caldwell Ave. and another in which an autoist said she is unable to park or enter her driveway on Vine St. He also requested that the clerk write a letter of thanks to the D. W. Dickey Feed Co., which loaned village two trucks and a high-lift to help clear streets of snow the past week.

Chester Band Mothers To Buy 6 Instruments

Plans for the purchase of six instruments for the Chester High School band were made at a meeting of the Purple and Gold Band Mothers Monday night at the high school.

John Clovis, director, is to obtain prices for two baritone horns, a french horn, two bass horns and a baritone saxophone.

It was announced the annual band banquet has been changed from April 30 to April 28. Birthday calendar kits were distributed for the sale now under way.

Mrs. Dale Hoyt, chairman, said the merchandise club is now being organized. Lunch was served 14 by Mrs. Herman Wilson and Mrs. Garnet Ash.

Mrs. Alton Johnson, president, was in charge. The next meeting will be March 28.

Short Circuit Blamed

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Fire which did an estimated $25,000 damage to the manor house at Punderson Lake State Park was blamed on a short circuit in a TV set. The blaze Monday routed six guests. Firemen from Newbury worked three hours to control the fire, confined to the "tower room" on the second floor.

Second In Line To Throne

Crown Princess Of Japan Has First Child—A Son

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Princess Michiko gave birth today to a healthy, 5-pound, 9-ounce son who became second in the line of succession to the Japanese throne.

The baby is the first child born to Crown Prince Akihito and the daughter of the commoner flour manufacturer he married last April 10. The birth had not been expected for another week.

An announcement said both mother and child were well.

The princess entered the Imperial Household hospital at 1:50 a.m. Monday and the baby was born 14 hours and 25 minutes later.

The delivery was described as natural, apparently meaning without artificial aid of any type.

The young father, in accordance with tradition, waited at his home five miles from the hospital. At news of the birth, he rushed to the hospital to see his son and his wife.

Michiko's mother, Mrs. Hidesaburo Shoda, was the only member of the family with the princess for the confinement.

Emperor Hirohito will give the baby his name and title on Feb. 29 in the ancient ceremony of the first bath. Until then he will be known as "shinno," or imperial prince.

The birth aroused widespread public joy.

People jammed the palaze plaza to hear the news. Shouts of "banzai! banzai!"—may you live 10,000 years—rang through the square. A helicopter sent up by a Tokyo department store trailed a streamer "congratulations, birth of imperial child."

4th Anniversary Set Saturday At Center In Midland

The Midland Hi-Spot Youth Center will observe its fourth anniversary Saturday from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. with a "Heart Hop" and "open house," Mrs. William Spisak, director, said.

Parents, representatives of organizations and others are invited to attend and inspect the center.

Entertainment will include the Gay Tunes of Greensburg, a four-piece combo, making its second appearance. The student committee will put up decorations Thursday and Friday at 7 p. m.

The center was established after Mrs. Spisak asked Council in 1955 for renovations for the third-floor of the Borough Building for recreational needs. The third floor had been vacant about two years during remodeling of the building.

Membership has been between 135 and 150 each year and between 200 and 300 students attend the weekly sessions.

The center is for students 13 to 19 and provides a place where they can gather socially at specified times to enjoy planned activities that are supervised.

The center holds regular sessions on Friday evenings except when school events are played away, then they are held Saturday evenings. Most holidays are marked.

The center's free admission dance will not be held tonight after Lincoln's last basketball game of the season due to sickness and the weather. It will be held next Monday from 8 to 11.

A party for the team and players and their guests will not be held until after Lent, she said. Saturday's event will be the last until the "Easter Ball," April 18.

Shorter sessions will be observed during the Lenten season.

Public Discussion Set On School Site Choice

IRONDALE—Voters in the Stanton Local School District will attend a citizens' public meeting tonight at 8 for a discussion of the site for a proposed $1½ million high school.

Several hundred are expected to attend the session in the gymnasium of Stanton High School.

Residents of Irondale, Hammondsville, Port Homer, Stratton and Empire will attend. Those planning to speak on the site for the new building must register at the door when entering, school officials said.

Police said they found gambling, prostitution and illegal liquor sales and arrested 18 of 118 persons found inside. Officers later charged the operator of the place, Johnnie Walker, 28, with attempting to bribe an officer.

Daughter Of Actress Ingrid Bergman Weds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ingrid Bergman's apple-cheeked eldest daughter commuted across San Francisco Bay to her Mills College classes with a new name today — Mrs. Fuller E. Callaway III.

The former Jenny Ann Lindstrom, 21, eloped Sunday with Callaway, scion of a Georgia industrial family. Callaway, 28, is business manager of the Watkins Johnson Electronics Co. in suburban Palo Alto, but lives in San Francisco.

The ceremony was preformed in Elko, Nev.

Profiteering Is Denied By Drug Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized drug manufacturers denied vigorously today their industry is profiteering against the sick, or dealing in monopolistic practices.

Dr. Austin Smith of Washington, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn., contended instead that drugs and medicines are "the real bargain" for the buying public today. His testimony was prepared for renewed hearings by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

At earlier hearings, the subcommittee has heard testimony that some big manufacturers have received markups as big as several thousand per cent on medicines sold to patients for up to 50 cents a dose.

Smith contended that singling out the price of one out of many products of a firm could mislead the public.

Vigorously defending medicine prices as reasonable, he said:

"Americans would be paying a billion dollars a year more for drugs if the price of medicine in the past few years had gone up only as much as the total cost of living."

He said drug prices rose 3 per cent in the last 10 years while the average wholesale price of all industrial products went up 22 per cent.

Smith said he spoke for 138 manufacturers of prescription drugs and medicines who are members of his association.

It will be assigned to the incinerator department and a truck now being used there will be made available for a new part-time dog warden, who is expected to be named this week, the director explained.

(Five People to see these)

YOUNGSTOWN ROAD, (Brick), near Hoge's Restaurant—One of the nicest interior arrangements we have seen in a modern home. It has a Super-Size living room with fireplace, full dining room, two very large bedrooms, each with twin closets taking in one complete wall. Of course there is an attached garage and full basement plus nice patio, porch and a total of 4½ acres. You should see it in person to appreciate it.
$21,000.00

This nice little four room brick, with attached garage, seven years old, level lot, gas heat, hardwood floors and plastered walls. Glenmoor Price $10,500. We have had two sales on this place (to people who couldn't finance it), so do not feel that there is some catch to having a brick home at such a reasonable price.

WANTED

(Five People to see these)

YOUNGSTOWN ROAD, (Brick), near Hoge's Restaurant—One of the nicest interior arrangements we have seen in a modern home. It has a Super-Size living room with fireplace, full dining room, two very large bedrooms, each with twin closets taking in one complete wall. Of course there is an attached garage and full basement plus nice patio, porch and a total of 4½ acres. You should see it in person to appreciate it.
$21,000.00

This nice little four room brick, with attached garage, seven years old, level lot, gas heat, hardwood floors and plastered walls. Glenmoor Price $10,500. We have had two sales on this place (to people who couldn't finance it), so do not feel that there is some catch to having a brick home at such a reasonable price.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Money Not Needed To Provide Toys

No matter how little money parents may have for buying toys, their child need not be denied playthings if these parents are resourceful.

By Garry Meyers

In any home there are all sorts of empty boxes and cartons. Think of all the various shapes and sizes of such containers, the heavy wrapping paper and cord; the big buttons, spools, clothespins, spoons, pans, pan lids, pails; perhaps a rolling pin that you have around. Most dads are able to assemble scraps of lumber from which they can make a few blocks. Many a father could, at little or no cost, make good sets of blocks to provide about the most varied fun possible for the little child.

EVEN FROM a brush pile he might saw some safe pieces to provide the child, three to four, with hours of fun.

Given some empty cardboard boxes, the child of nine or ten months can find amusement manipulating them, even alone, without being taught to do so. And think of what he might do with a tablespoon and a few pans!

Beginning to toddle, the youngster may like to drag a stick or small board by a string or push a block or two over the floor, calling it a train or engine.

When the child is six, eight or ten, consider how many things he might be able to make, with a few simple tools and a little guidance, from all sorts of cardboard containers or scraps of paper, wood or cloth.

IT'S WITH THE youngster nine or ten months to three or four years that all sorts of things about the house can be rich resources for playthings. The smart young mother might find good outlets for her talents by placing such materials into the hands of her baby and, in doing so, amuse and stimulate him at creative play.

It's possible for her to do so more effectively than if she had lavished costly "store" toys on him. (Caution: A cellophane wrapper of the kind in which clothes come from the cleaner can be a very dangerous plaything for the baby or tot).

The mother may need to buy crayons before the tot is three or four and a pair of snubnosed scissors. Then she can let him color and draw and cut to his heart's content.

AT FIRST he can cut mere strips of paper and later cut out pictures from old newspapers or magazines. Soon he will like to paste up strips and pictures he has cut out, with paste homemade from flour and water.

As soon as he is old enough not to eat clay, he can have all sorts of fun with it, even with a bit of dough as his mother bakes.

Very early he can have hours of useful fun at pounding nails into a soft board or chunk of wood, using a hammer on hand. Soon he will learn to saw soft wood, then a vise for holding it may be a wise purchase.

As a few tools are added, they should be good and sturdy ones he can use for years. He needs some guidance in the use of tools, whether they are his own or those used by his parents.

Teen-Agers Must Guard Against 'Booby-trap'

Teen-agers — don't fall into the booby-trap of eating when you haven't anything interesting to do. So many of you write, "I eat just to be doing something." Eating for diversion can quickly turn into a false hunger habit ... and it's so fattening!

By Ida Jean Kain

You confide you are not popular because your are fat and that you hestitate to get into activities because of your weight. Are you in this vicious circle... not in things because you are too fat... bored because you are not active and eating because you are bored? This can go round and round and come out in... pounds.

When you reach your teens, you are growing up and the motivation to reduce, or to make any constructive change in your life, must come from within yourself.

WHAT TO DO? Take some action. Does your hair need washing? Dunk your head quickly before you can slump down in inertia. Set your hair and whip into some "slimnastics" exercising to music. Start ... and you'll finish feeling alive instead of bored.

This very week get into some kind of activity. If anyone pokes fun at your weight ... laugh right along with the others. If you can laugh, you won't bottle up resentment. One wise young girl wrote that at first she felt hurt when a boy called her fatty... but later she went back and thanked him. Challenged, she had slimmed down to her healthy, attractive weight.

At gym class this week, enter into the activities with all the enthusiasm you can muster. Ask your teacher for some special exercises for your particular figure problems. She will be glad to help you.

Teens, here's the encouraging part of getting into things ... when you do make the effort to start, then other opportunities will just naturally stem from this start. So ACT!

Don't "diet" to reduce, eat to beat the pounds. The important foods come first. Have a serving of everything your mother had planned for the meals, but no seconds. If you have a potato, skip the bread at that meal. Have fruit in place of the rich dessert.

AFTER SCHOOL you need an energy boost. Don't squander calories recklessly. Of course you want to have what the gang has. Well, arrange to get a low-calorie soft drink ... even if you have to connive with the boy behind the counter.

You're a girl or boy with ingenuity and spunk, aren't you? When you get home you can still have 100 calories for a pick-up. This will tide you over until dinner time.

Life can be wonderful for you when you decide you have what it takes to make it so!

Bringing Up A Family

Money Not Needed To Provide Toys

No matter how little money parents may have for buying toys, their child need not be denied playthings if these parents are resourceful. In any home there are all sorts of empty boxes and cartons. Most dads are able to assemble scraps of lumber from which they can make a few blocks. Many a father could, at little or no cost, make good sets of blocks to provide about the most varied fun possible for the little child.
